Parliament Washroom Blast Scene

OTTAWA (CP) — A man who apparently smuggled a bomb into the Centre Block of Parliament Hill Wednesday was killed when an explosion ripped through a washroom near the offices of Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

He was identified as Paul Joseph Chartier, about 45, of Toronto after eight hours of intensive investigation by RCMP and other police.

Speculation was the washroom explosion was premature and the intent was that the device be set off inside the Commons chamber or in its galleries.

Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux and Solicitor-General Pennell held a joint press conference Wednesday night to give details and identify the victim.

'A Blast To Wake You Up'

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan police said Wednesday night they found in Paul Chartier's rooming house here a notebook containing the sentence: "Might as well give you a blast to wake you up."

Chartier was identified in Ottawa Wednesday night by Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux as the victim of an explosion earlier Wednesday that ripped through a washroom in the Parliament buildings.

Police said they also found in Chartier's room here six sticks of dynamite and two crude homemade bombs. Douglas Lucas of the attorney-general's department, which received the explosives for examination and disposal, said the bombs were dangerous to use in that it would be difficult to determine how much time would elapse before they might explode.

Landlady Jean Lapalme said Chartier left her rooming house between 10 and 11 a.m. Wednesday without saying where he was going.

Mrs. Lapalme said Chartier moved into her house about five weeks ago and he'd recently been in the United States.

She described him as a nice, quiet man with whom she'd had few conversations.

Police said they also found in Chartier's room here six sticks of dynamite and two crude homemade bombs.

He had deep respect for the judiciary, but had never seen anything to approach the attitude of the commission, the Opposition leader said.

BOMBS FOUND IN VICTIM'S HOUSE

'Don't Be Silly,' Said Chatterton

Security Guard Thought It Was a Firecracker

By BOB PETHICK

Plaster dust was still settling from the ceiling of the bombed House of Commons washroom when Esquimaux-Saanich MP George Chatterton arrived on the scene. "It was a terrific blast," Mr. Chatterton said Wednesday. "When I got there, smoke was pouring out of the washroom door."

Two or three others arrived on the scene a few seconds before Mr. Chatterton. One was a security guard.

"I asked him what it was. He said he thought it was a firecracker. I said, 'don't be silly!'"

He said Dr. Hugh Horner

(PC, Jasper-Edson) arrived on the scene and went inside, and came out a few minutes later and said the man had been killed. The doctor speculated the man had been carrying the bomb in his hand or in his right pocket.

"They cleared the House, and at 4 p.m. when the bells rang (to summon the House) I expected the Speaker to make a statement." There was no statement.

He said the public gallery was empty. Guards were looking under everything.

When the explosion went off, he said, he immediately thought of last year's "blood-bucket incident," when a protester buried a container of cow's blood on the floor of the House in protest.

When things settled down after the blast, Mr. Chatterton started for his office. A fellow member, whom he would not name, clutched his arm.

"You're not going in there are you?" he asked. "Stay outside."

Mr. Chatterton waited 20 minutes before phoning his Ottawa home to ask his wife if she had heard the news. She hadn't.

When he told her what happened, her only reply was, "In Canada?"

Angry Diefenbaker Pulls Out of Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker imposed a Conservative boycott on the Munsinger security inquiry Wednesday as the royal commission heard its last witness.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, the commissioner, announced that final argument will begin today at 10:30 a.m.

Neither Justice Minister Cavan, whose charges led to the inquiry, nor Mr. Diefenbaker, accused by Mr. Cardin of mishandling the Munsinger case when he was prime minister, appeared before the commission.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced he had instructed the lawyers representing him and former Conservative justice minister Dave Fulton to quit the inquiry. They did and, consequently, will not present final argument.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused Mr. Justice Spence of making public last week "a sordid, libellous document" and "a McCarthy smear."

DESTROY REPUTATION

The document was intended to destroy his reputation and many points in it were contradicted by the evidence, he said. Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a document prepared by Commission Counsel J. L. O'Brien and J. J. Urie. It was a summary of police reports about Gerda Munsinger and her relationship with Pierre Sevigny, former Conservative associate defence minister, and others. The judge said the document was not evidence.

Mr. Diefenbaker said at a press conference that Mr.

O'Brien boasted publicly in Montreal of "what he was going to do with a former prime minister" and had stated "over and over again that he was going to get even."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. O'Brien had been counsel for the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada when the Conservative cabinet objected to an application for a phone rate increase.

NOT INTERESTED

Mr. O'Brien told reporters before the afternoon session of the inquiry began: "I have never said it and I have no reason to get him. Apart from that, I'm not very interested."

Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton attacked the conduct of the inquiry in a 15-minute press conference.

ASSASSINATION

Mr. Diefenbaker said a succession of events at the inquiry indicated that "the purpose for which the commission was established was the political assassination of opponents."

He assailed secret sessions held without notice, lack of access to secret exhibits before the inquiry, questioning based on secret RCMP files and publication of a summary of the files, without admitting it as evidence.

He criticized Mr. O'Brien for drafting the summary and Mr. Justice Spence for accepting Mr. O'Brien's suggestion to make the summary public, without producing it as evidence.

The summary was "a self-selected tissue of slanders" based on hearsay and contradicted often by sworn evidence.

RESPECTS JUDICIARY

He had deep respect for the judiciary, but had never seen anything to approach the attitude of the commission, the Opposition leader said.

Cool Haul, Chilly Victims

Bandits Strip, Rob 75

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bandits invaded a private club Wednesday, forced about 75 men and women to strip, robbed them of about $10,000 in jewelry and money and held them captive in the nude for nearly eight hours.

Police said one white girl in the predominantly Negro crowd in the West Side Social Club was raped by one of four or five Negro bandits. She was not identified.

About 15 of the victims were women. The men and women were forced to lie nude on the floor during the entire ordeal until the bandits decided to leave.

"The robbers were severe, there was a lot of blood, a lot of the victims got hit on the head," police said.

"They were mean, the big guy was the toughest one. He was watching people, if they made any movement, he would kick them in the head," detectives said.

"The robbers came in at 8 a.m. after the manager opened the club and held him up," police said. "As customers came in one or two at a time, they would be robbed and stripped coming in the door."

"This went on from 8 to 3:30, when the bandits got about all they could get and left."

Department of Industry:

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau
First of a Series

OTTAWA (Special) — The new Industry Department:

"A $50,000,000 administrative convenience for Prime Minister Pearson in putting Industry Minister Drury into the cabinet business," says Alfred D. Hales, MP for Wellington South and Conservative critic of this particular department.

"Essential for the attainment of a generally vigorous economy," says Mr. Drury and his department.

So is there a neutral, between extremes assessment?

Well, how about David A. Golden who, going on two years ago, resigned as deputy minister of both the industry and the defence production departments to take the presidency of the Air Industries Association of Canada?

He was the senior civil service obstetrician who delivered the infant department, and then left it for what he said was a more challenging practice in private enterprise.

"The department of industry — a good concept — may take a bit of time — but it's sure to turn out to be useful," he says after watching its development over the last two years and 10 months.

Now the degree of excellence of any departmental function and performance is a matter of opinion.

And here Mr. Drury, Mr. Golden and Mr. Hales again differ.

"An extravagant, inefficient and unnecessary duplication," says Mr. Hales.

"From the outside it seems to be coming along nicely as an instrument of commercial and industrial development," says Mr. Golden.

"We're doing our best possible to assist the business community in obtaining more complete information about changing economic conditions and opportunities to permit development of effective programs and measures for industrial expansion," says Mr. Drury and his department.

Opinion, all of it — expert and authoritative — but still just opinion.

Where you can get out of the controversial element of opinion and into the less argumentative field of facts and figures is to examine how the department gears up in manpower for whatever kind of a job it may be doing.

To begin with, Mr. Hales contends that the industry department's hired hands are over-priced, mainly because the new department bought them at premium rates from other federal agencies.

And the gossip has had wide circulation around the capital that industry somehow managed to transform the Civil Service Commission into something approaching a manpower auction.

The new department, so still goes the scuttlebutt, wanted a particular man, say an expert in textiles, in, say trade and commerce.

So they looked him up in the salary lists of the estimates and public accounts, and if trade and commerce was paying $16,000, they advertised the job at $18,000.

And they hand-tailored the particular requirements of the

Seeks U.S. Protection New General Defies Pagoda-Attack Order

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (Reuters) — Shooting broke out in the streets today between rebel soldiers and troops loyal to the Saigon government.

Sources said government troops were ordered to attack two pagodas held by Buddhist-backed dissident troops.

There were no reports of casualties. Government troops at one point hit a rebel jeep with a shell from a recoilless rifle as it was crossing one of the streets.

An unconfirmed report said Maj.-Gen. Huynh Van Cao, formally installed Wednesday as the Saigon regime's new commander for South Viet Nam's five northern provinces, sought safety with the United States marine commander after refusing to attack the pagodas.

Forces Held To Quarters

Greek Ship Abandoned In Atlantic

HALIFAX (CP) — The 27-member crew of the sinking Greek freighter Aurora abandoned ship about 160 miles east of St. John's, Nfld., Wednesday night.

The Air-Sea Rescue Centre here said 14 members, including the skipper, were taken aboard the vessel Sicilia and 13 aboard the Overseas Courier.

The Sicilia was to continue to New York and the Overseas Courier, originally headed to Seven Islands, Que., was believed heading for St. John's.

The 7,195-ton Aurora, bound from Piraeus, Greece, to Montreal, was taking water rapidly in heavy seas, the centre said.

Bomb in Washroom walls and toilet facilities and blew out the panels of the heavy wooden door to the corridor, although leaving the door frame intact. One chunk of marble was found in the corridor outside.

Two doctor MPs were among the first on the scene after the blast.

Dr. Hugh Horner (PC-Jasper-Edson) and Dr. B. Ryan (PC-Simcoe East) both said the victim died almost instantly.

The man's chest, arms and legs absorbed the main force of the explosion, Dr. Horner told reporters. The man was "pretty well mangled."

BOMB HOME-MADE

"He apparently blew himself up with a home-made bomb," Dr. Horner added.

The smoke smelled like that from an explosion of dynamite or black gunpowder, he added.

"It's not a very pretty sight," said an RCMP constable on emerging from the wrecked washroom.

ARM BLOWN OFF

The nature of the injuries lent weight to speculation that the man was holding the device in his hands and against his body when the explosion occurred.

Robert McCleave (PC-Halifax) told reporters he had talked to Dr. Lewis Brand (PC-Saskatoon). The doctor told him the victim had one arm blown off and had been found facing the washroom door.

It appeared as though the man was just about to leave the room with a bomb in his hands, Mr. McCleave added.

Rene Soulières, 30, a messenger on the parliamentary staff, told reporters he had directed a man wearing a topcoat to the washroom shortly before the explosion. He said the man had come out of the public galleries and asked, in English, for a washroom.

Minutes later the blast came. No one in the public galleries or on the floor of the Commons at the time quite believed it.

SCRAMBLE

Labor Minister Nicholson was on his feet replying to a request for tabling of documents when the roar echoed through the chamber.

After a moment of stunned inaction, press gallery members started scrambling toward the scene. Some MPs on the Commons floor made remarks about the fast exit of the press corps.

SNOKE SEEPS IN

The Commons continued its business. But there was a rising buzz of conversation in the galleries and on the floor as the clamor outside the south-end gallery became louder with the arrival of protective staff and reporters. Wisps of smoke from the detonation started seeping into the gallery and the chamber.

Frank Howard (NDP-Skeena) rose to say that a page boy had advised him all doctors in the House should report outside "as their services are needed immediately."

At 3:00 p.m., Mr. Pearson told the House "a bomb has exploded in a washroom." He asked for an adjournment until 4 p.m. and this was quickly granted.

By this time, members of the protective staff had cordoned off the washroom area and started to clear the public galleries.

They steered the unhurt but puzzled lines of visitors out of the corridors where they had been waiting for a chance to get into the galleries. Then they cleared occupants out of the galleries.

Some 40 minutes after the explosion, the entire building had been cleared of visitors. Some remained milling around on the sidewalks in front of the Centre Block, asking questions about what had happened and watching an ambulance parked near the centre door.

HELP IN SEARCH

It remained there for more than an hour before it pulled around to a side door to receive the body of the victim.

By that time the crowds had thinned.

By that time, too, the investigators had finished preliminary examination of the shattered washroom.

Capt. T. S. Martin and Lieut. W. J. Redmond, army bomb experts, helped police search the rubble in the hunt for information. RCMP crime lab officers worked with them and photographers snapped pictures from all angles to record the scene.

The Commons resumed its sitting at 4 p.m., the public galleries empty and only a few members of the press corps in the press gallery.

Diefenbaker Boycotts Inquiry

Mr. Diefenbaker took exception to two allegations in the summary:

● An allegation attributed to anyone that political pressure was applied on the Ministry of Police in February, 1961, to have them drop charges of passing bad cheques against Mrs. Munsinger.

● A statement attributed to Mrs. Munsinger in 1960 that Mr. Diefenbaker had told her she was doing "a great thing" for Canada.

Referring to the first allegation, Mr. Diefenbaker said, "That wasn't true." The RCMP had requested the withdrawal of the charges "without reference to any minister."

Referring to the second allegation, he said Mrs. Munsinger denied in a CBC interview last spring she had ever met him.

ENJOYED LESS RIGHTS

Mr. Diefenbaker said even ordinary criminals have more rights than he and Mr. Fulton enjoyed at the inquiry.

Mr. Fulton issued a statement criticizing point by point the conduct of the inquiry.

He said secret documents filed at the inquiry as exhibits were hidden from him or held up until after he testified May 9.

ATTITUDE OF BIAS

Mr. Fulton also said: "In as much as the whole inquiry relates to the handling of a security case, it was seriously disturbing to find the commissioner (Mr. Justice Spence) at the outset adopting an attitude suggestive of bias as to my fitness or reliability in any aspect of this matter."

The last witness was Gaston Levesque, former executive assistant to Mr. Severyn. At about the moment he completed his testimony, an explosion occurred in the centre block of the Parliament buildings seven blocks away.

Mr. Levesque said that on one occasion in October, 1960, he had been sent by Mr. Sevigny to the bar of the Beacon Arms Hotel to meet Mrs. Munsinger. He didn't say—and wasn't asked—why.

Mr. Levesque said an elated George Hees, former Conservative trade minister, had entered the bar with some other men. Mrs. Munsinger had called out "Hello, George" and had gone over to chat with him for a few minutes.

ANNOUNCED PROMOTION

When Mrs. Munsinger returned, Mr. Levesque said, she "announced to me" that Mr. Hees had been promoted to trade minister from the transport portfolio. This had occurred on the eve or the day of the appointment.

"I was stunned," Mr. Levesque said. "I hadn't heard of that. We were expecting to go higher ourselves."

He was apparently referring to a new cabinet post for Mr. Severyn.

Mr. Levesque said he is an officer in Montreal with the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Levesque said any action he might have taken in regard to Mrs. Munsinger's application for Canadian citizenship in 1960 would have been done on the instructions of or with the approval of Mr. Severyn.

George F. Davidson, former deputy minister of citizenship and immigration, read a memorandum he said he prepared in December, 1960.

The memo said it had been decided after consultations with the immigration minister—then Ellen Fairclough—Mr. Fulton and Mr. Levesque that on one occasion in October, 1960, he had been sent by Mr. Sevigny to the bar of the Beacon Arms Hotel to meet Mrs. Munsinger. He didn't say—and wasn't asked—why.

vigny to the bar of the Beacon Arms Hotel to meet Mrs. Munsinger. He didn't say—and wasn't asked—why.

Mr. Levesque said an elated George Hees, former Conservative trade minister, had entered the bar with some other men. Mrs. Munsinger had called out "Hello, George" and had gone over to chat with him for a few minutes.

When Mrs. Munsinger returned, Mr. Levesque said, she "announced to me" that Mr. Hees had been promoted to trade minister from the transport portfolio. This had occurred on the eve or the day of the appointment.

"I was stunned," Mr. Levesque said. "I hadn't heard of that. We were expecting to go higher ourselves."

He was apparently referring to a new cabinet post for Mr. Severyn.

Mr. Levesque said he is an officer in Montreal with the Civil Service Commission.

Mr. Levesque said any action he might have taken in regard to Mrs. Munsinger's application for Canadian citizenship in 1960 would have been done on the instructions of or with the approval of Mr. Severyn.

George F. Davidson, former deputy minister of citizenship and immigration, read a memorandum he said he prepared in December, 1960.

The memo said it had been decided after consultations with the immigration minister—then Ellen Fairclough—Mr. Fulton and Mr. Levesque that on one occasion in October, 1960, he had been sent by Mr. Se-

vigny to the bar of the Beacon Arms Hotel to meet Mrs. Munsinger. He didn't say—and wasn't asked—why.

NATO, Warsaw Pact 'Should Be Junked'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Wednesday said both the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its Communist counterpart—the Warsaw Pact, should be junked.

In a diplomatic reply to a West German message, the Russians also called for a broad treaty arrangement to restrict nuclear proliferation and said it would support admission of both West and East Germany to the United Nations.

The Soviets renewed their call for a conference of European nations — but not the United States — to tackle the problem of divided Germany.

REPLY TO BONN

The Russian message, responding to a note distributed by West Germany March 25, said the USSR "stands for the accomplishment of a German peace settlement" and said that "in case of an appropriate application" by the federal republic of (West) Germany to the United Nations, the Soviet Union will advocate the admission of both German states.

Also proposed in the lengthy note were:

- The withdrawal of all nuclear weapons stations outside national territory.

- The immediate conclusion of a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear arms which would also prohibit use of nuclear weapons against nations which do not have them.

- Renunciation of the use of nuclear weapons by both Germany and the establishment of a nuclear-free zone in Central Europe.

- Strengthening the United Nations peace-keeping powers.

Russians Face Dilemma

Romania Asks N-Voice

LONDON (UPI) — Romania, seeking a greater say in future inner East bloc defense and political arrangements, was reported Wednesday bargaining for a veto on the placing and use of Russian nuclear weapons.

A Warsaw Pact summit meeting was called for early July, with Russia said to be urging a tightening of Communist defense arrangements.

Continuing reports, all without official confirmation, have Romania holding out against the Soviets for a considerable degree of political and military as well as economic independence. The firm stand is perhaps what led to Soviet Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev's sudden trip to Bucharest last week.

The Times of London quoted a Romanian source as saying Bucharest is opposed to letting itself be used by the Soviets as a missile base from which nuclear weapons could be fired without Romania being consulted.

WHO WOULD have thought the time could come, when residents of the rural areas hereabouts would be complaining about farm noises?

But they are. In Central Saanich irate citizens, as the term goes, have been lodging complaints with the police and municipal hall about the noise from a potato farm. It seems the farmer is operating a new and expensive high-speed diesel tractor whose whining note disturbs the rest of neighbors and is an irritating overtone throughout the working day.

It has long been a matter for humorous comment that city dwellers find difficulty in adjusting to the rustic life; the dawn twitterings have been described by them as the screaming of the birds. And the bucolic chorus from the barnyard, the lowing of cattle impatient for the milkman, the shrill challenge of the cocks, the cackle of poultry, all these have jarred the nerves of those accustomed to the roar of traffic, the hooting of horns, shrieks of sirens and the rest.

In the past 20 years Central Saanich has experienced rapid growth. Many of the new residents come from urban areas, but they made their choice and, even if they objected to the sometimes offensive odor of fertilizer, the day-and-night thumping of the irrigation pumps and the roar of near-by tractors, they accepted these things philosophically. After all, a farmer has his rights. And besides, he was there first.

But there are qualities of noises that even farm folk find it hard to bear without complaint, particularly when they come before dawn and continue into the late evening. Then they become a nuisance.

The Central Saanich municipal authorities are now investigating the present series of complaints to see whether or not they should take action under a bylaw which governs the control of such things as noisy tractors.

But would it be reasonable to expect the farmer to go back to the handsome teams of Clydesdales and Percherons to do his plowing? Picturesque and peaceful though such a scene would be, it is doubtful that he could afford to create it, even for the benefit of his neighbors and the goggling carloads that race through the countryside.

Farmers, too, are entitled to take advantage of mechanical progress to help them earn a sometimes precarious living.

It is likely the tractor, even the noisy diesel, is here to stay.

Garbage Alternatives

OUT OF SIGHT, out of mind, as the saying goes, and it is likely that except for those relatively few residents who live near Greater Victoria's garbage dumps and have complained of smoke and smell, the matter of refuse disposal is not generally to the fore in the minds of the citizenry. This is a distinct change from the days when Victoria's garbage was dumped at sea and much of it came back to litter the shore.

But while Alderman Geoffrey Edgelow may be right in holding that there is no rush to the problem, obviously there is some health hazard (as well as a nuisance aspect) to the present system of open dumping combined with salvage and burning. It will increase with the population if nothing is done.

Senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread has suggested that, to discourage rats and end the air pollution around the dumps, the capital region municipalities should have the garbage compacted and covered with six inches of earth daily, at an extra cost which he estimates at $50,000 a year. As long as suitable sites for operations of this kind can be found, the suggestion has merit. But such locations are limited.

The city engineer, Mr. James Garnett, would prefer burning the garbage. This can be done in a well-designed incineration plant without creating a nuisance, is even more sanitary and leaves little residue. But it would more than double the present expense, and the cost of the plant would be around $2,500,000.

A technical committee of municipal engineers will study both systems. While they are at it, however, they might well take another look at a method of disposal that has been mooted and rejected before in Victoria: the manufacture of fertilizer from the garbage.

The economic attractiveness of this plan depends on the market for the fertilizer, and quite likely it would not be a profitable venture. But as an alternative to a $2,500,000 plant with no product whatever to sell, it seems worthy at least of reconsideration.

Other Way Around

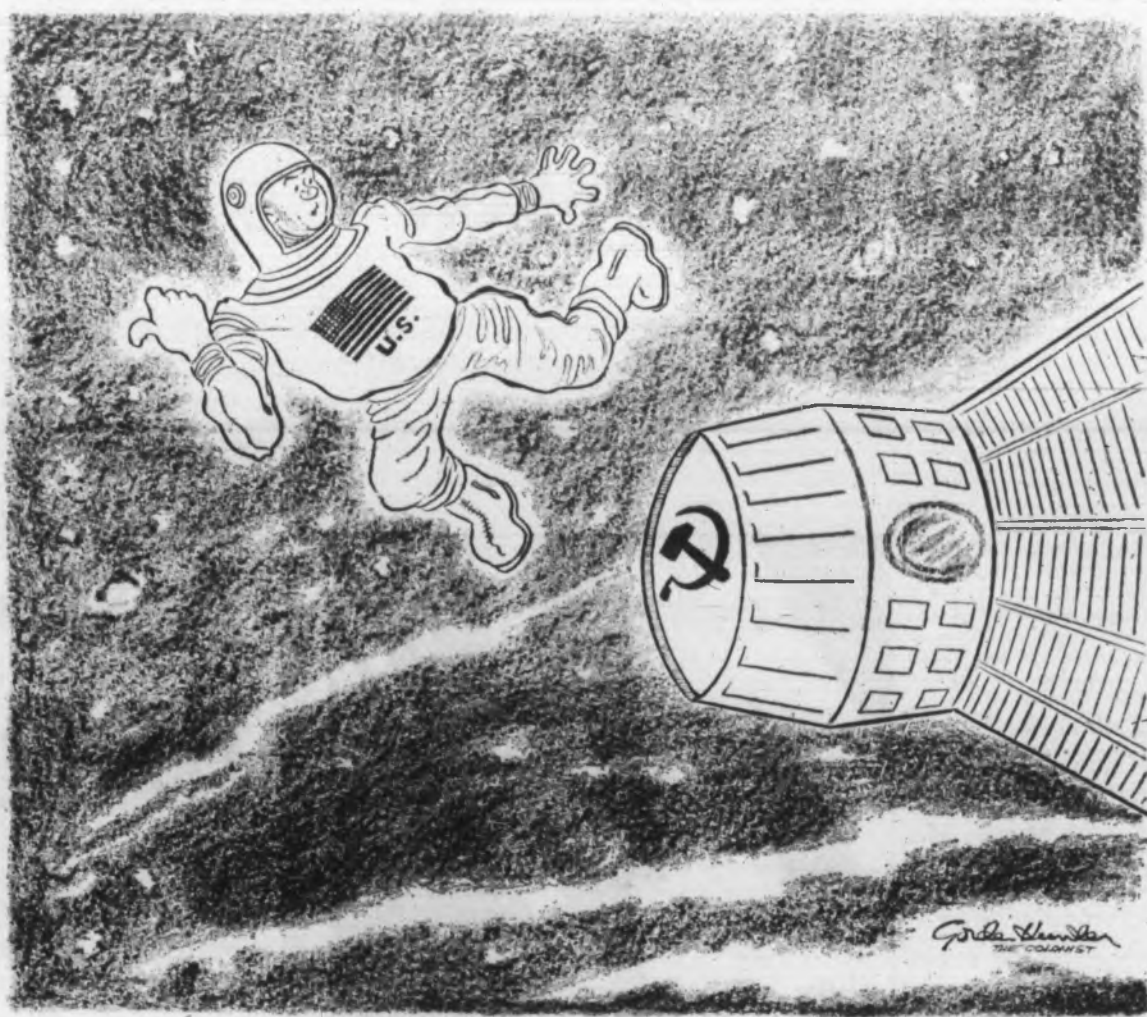

THE GERDA MUNSINGER case, according to the semi-official Russian newspaper Pravda, is being used to cast a shadow on the Soviet Union, to intimidate common Canadians from having contact with the Soviet people, and to convince them that spies are waiting for them at almost every corner.

This interpretation of the inquiry must certainly have been intended for home consumption behind the Iron Curtain, and not for export, since to Canadians and others who have been following the case in a free and unmanipulated press such assertions will border on the ridiculous. The Russians have not been reading about it: the Pravda article apparently was the first reference in a Soviet newspaper to the Munsinger affair.

They are thus given to believe, with no way of knowing different, that the case is being used by "some members of the (Canadian) cabinet... willingly helped by the FBI" to stir up anti-Soviet feeling. "It is clear to every sober-minded person," said Pravda, "that all this cannot promote better relations between the Soviet Union and Canada."

Coincidentally, however, the Russians will have read in their government newspaper, Izvestia, that some American scientists who visited their country under the Soviet-American cultural exchange agreement were working as spies for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency; likewise that tourists were working for the CIA.

And it just may strike some sober-minded Russian citizens that if the Canadian government is condemned for harming East-West relations by calling public attention to Soviet spying, their own government is doing exactly the same, the other way around.

Canada's Indians and Eskimos

Closer Federal-Provincial Liaison

By J. MELLING

PROVINCIAL DEVELOP-

MENTS: One very important principle, which precedes the administrative and other reforms initiated by the Report of the Joint Parliamentary

Committee but which has received a strong impetus from it, is that, wherever feasible, the branch should cease to provide, a fortiori should cease to create, special services of its own to Indians and instead should use existing services of other agencies, notably provincial governments, on terms of reimbursing or at least sharing their costs. Though provincial governments are proving rather more reluctant to assume these functions than is the branch to develop them, a fair number of joint schemes are already in operation and include in addition to those previously mentioned — programs in the areas of wildlife and fisheries, fur conservation, wild crops harvesting, schooling and hospital services. There are also agreements with several provincial governments for sharing the costs of specialist develop-

and Metis communities indifferently.

Reference may be made at this point to a rather imaginative development which has brought the famous Metis novelist Yves Theriault into the new branch of communication. The branch has for years maintained an advisory and marketing service in the various provinces for Indian handicrafts;

more recently, the provincial governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba have themselves noted this field of enterprise.

But there was a clear need for a commissioner with a nationwide responsibility for working with those Indians and Indian groups who are concerned for an Indian cultural renaissance and a worthy contribution to Canadian literature, painting, folklore, folklore and dance.

From the point of view of the Indians, the principal difficulty stemming from exclusive federal jurisdiction over their affairs has been their inability to benefit from the provisions of federal legislation which enjoin or permits joint federal-provincial services. There are now signs that more and more breaches will be made in the walls separating Indians from services available through this type of legislation. The two most striking examples are provided by the use that may be made, on behalf of Indians and Indian communities, of the Technical and Vocational Training Assistance Act and the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act of 1961.

The first of the two acts just mentioned provides greatly increased federal grant-aid to the provinces to help them train both youths and adults for skilled employments. The technical and vocational training agreement under the act offers five programs, of which the first — "program for the training of the unemployed" — is the one within which it has been found possible to include a fair number of unemployed

Indian persons, especially in the scholastic level of most Indians.

"Program 5" is often having to be supplemented by school grade courses to bring the trainees up to the minimum level at which training can effectively begin. It should be noted that, under this program, training may be of a refresher type, and not simply for an occupation not previously followed by the trainee.

As for the ARDA program, this was set up as a result of a senate committee on land use in the rural areas. The basic ideas behind this program are that, if there is to be an effective attack on the problem of poverty in the rural areas, human beings are one of the resources which need development and that in any case the problems of the rural areas cannot be entirely solved in the rural sector.

Over-Canadian society as a whole, there are quite rapidly changing requirements for manpower, and these point to the need for more adequate information about these requirements and more adequate training to meet them. In the countryside as well as elsewhere. Consistently with this, each province has now set up a joint federal-provincial ARDA committee and, by a reform in the administration of the scheme for the current quinquennium (1965-70), each committee, instead of waiting for decisions upon its proposals from the federal government, may proceed to implement its projects.

It is now foreseen that Indians and Indian lands will be included within the scheme whenever a particular province so desires and whenever a satisfactory basis for this inclusion can be worked out. The ARDA committee of Saskatchewan has already adopted a project within which Indian communities are incorporated.

It may be added that, since the ARDA program is, in effect, concerned with other primary industries than agriculture,

Northland is now being given attention in which the native peoples — Eskimos as well as Indians — may be trained for mining employments.

Poverty and Assistance: Both of the major enactments mentioned above and the activities arising from them now seem likely to command greater financial resources and to be more strongly supplemented by related projects and services.

Canada now seems more aware, perhaps as a consequence of President Lyndon Johnson's

"war on poverty", of the physical and human under-development within its own borders. Hence the government of Mr. Lester

Pearson announced in the Throne speech last year its intention to build up social and economic opportunity. Shortly afterwards, the government set up a "Special Program Committee."

All these anti-poverty and service programs are of great interest to the Indian-Eskimo population. Not the least important are the three not directly related to industrial training and development.

Firstly, medicare. Though the (erstwhile) Indian and Northern health service branch of the department of national health and welfare had made stupendous progress, especially since

1964, in routing out TB among the native peoples and in securing provision of preventive and other health programs in very difficult circumstances and at extremely high per capita cost, the federal government has always made clear to the Indian-Eskimo users that programs were not available as of right even though, until a few years ago, they were virtually free. The latter-day development of provincial hospital

Mighty Taal Volcano Ready to Erupt Again

By BENEDICTO S. DAVID

MANILA, Philippines—"We know Taal volcano is going to erupt, we just don't know when."

This country's chief volcanologist, Arturo Alcaraz, made the statement after three weeks of literally sitting on top of the fickle volcano in the middle of Taal Lake.

The volcano last erupted in September, 1965, killing hundreds of people.

Alcaraz and his seven-man group have been staying on volcano island in an attempt to determine when the volcano, which has erupted 22 times since 1572, will blow again. They hope to be able to give the people living in the lakeside areas ample time to clear out.

Three, so far, the lakeside population has been evacuated to safer areas because of eruption danger. But they soon return to their farms and fishing grounds. They recently have been fishing around the volcano itself.

Alcaraz and his crew have been staying overnight on volcano island, sleeping in an old schoolhouse near one of the two major craters of the volcano.

Farmers with plots on volcano island spend a few hours every day on the island, going to and from the volcano in slow dug-outs which take 30 minutes in crossing the distance between the island and the lake shore.

Alcaraz is more or less certain that the next eruption will not be in either of the two craters, but will be on the northern slope of the volcano.

Meanwhile, he and his team sit on top of the volcano, trying to guess when to set off the warning flare that will warn the people on the lake shore to get out of the place. He then will broadcast by a powerful transmitter exactly which side of the lake will be in the most immediate danger.

"When the animals get restless at night, all of us get jittery and make immediate preparations to leave. With our speedboats, it takes only 10 minutes to get to the mainland," Alcaraz said.

Every day, the small island is rocked by several tremors and landslides. The island itself has even begun to tilt because of the enormous pressures that have been built up underground.

"But if the entire island goes, then the entire team will go with it," said one member of the team.

Considering that Taal Lake itself was once the crater of an ancient volcano, it is not farfetched to imagine that the entire island in its centre could blow up.

Department of Industry: Boon or Boondoggle?

job to the wanted man's specific qualifications.

Did it with such precision that out of the sieve of the civil service examinations, his would be the obvious one and only made-to-order body to fall into their lap.

Rigging It

This is known as rigging it. It's in the same league as salting the gold mine or fixing the race.

And it's done, but not often. It might even look as if it had been done — and a lot — in industry, on first glance through the new department's estimates.

For there are more people making over $10,000 than under.

And below it, 303 working stiffs.

In the $10,000 to $12,000 bracket are 140.

Between $12,000 and $14,000 another 97.

BACKGROUND

Fifty-seven get up to $16,000.

Another 14 go $18,000.

And 13 on top to $20,000.

Pretty rich, they say, for a new department that just two years ago had only two in the $20,000-or-better slot.

Not So Rich

Not so rich, says David Golden, in fact no richer than any other department.

But no other department is comparable. For like none other, industry has more chiefs and fewer Indians.

How come? Because the department of defence production is doing a lot of the administrative jobs.

In DDP

Many of the clerks, messengers, stenographers and file-keepers, the departmental hewers of wood and drawers of water are over in DDP and so they don't down-average the gold assay in the ID payroll to the going civil service work-a-day level.

The two departments, ID and DDP, have what one of their two-way executives calls an incestuous relationship.

Not only does defence production do most of the administration for industry, but they share some of the same divisional directors — but not their staffs. Idea's economy.

They even share a joint information staff of 34.

Executive Suite

And that's why industry appears at first casual glance as executive suite.

Nor is the gossip true, says David Golden, that industry named many of its 322 command posts through inter-departmental talent raids. And he should know for he was responsible for most of the key recruiting in the first year.

No Auction

He concedes that "some" came from other departments.

But they weren't dollar-dragooned.

There was no auction, and so no bidding.

Industry presented the specs for this job and that to the commission, and when the examinations were held it was strictly an open may-the-best-man-win contest.

"There's always a tremendous movement of manpower between the departments," he explains, "so we just gathered in our share."

Finally, it was the Treasury Board and not the department that set the salary levels.

In the same routine with industry as the drill with any other agency.

Good Many

"Got a good many from the outside, from business and industry," reports David Golden, which would seem to say something about the popular tale told in the Civil Service that the government is always dragging its supposedly competitive salary heels in the chase for qualified professionals.

There's been the suggestion that a fair assessment of the relative richness of industry's payroll would be a comparison with External Affairs' or Trade and Commerce's.

The idea being, of course, that they're comparable. Which, definitely, they're not.

For External and Trade are both old establishments, deep dug into the Treasury and doing an entirely different job to industry's.

There are 650 in External who are salaried above the $19,000 level.

And 399 in Trade. But External has a payroll running $17,542,000 sweetened with an extra $6,372,000 in allowances.

The payroll at Trade hits $12,492,900.

With industry trailing along with $4,315,000.

Critic Sales

Conservative critic Hales has protested in the Commons that industry's the best practical demonstration going in Ottawa of the application of Parkinson's law. True?

The act bringing industry into being was proclaimed in July of '63, and the estimates show the new department began with a staff of 264 drawing $815,987.

That was fiscal '63-'64. A year later the staff was up to 553 and the payroll to $3,540,200.

Last year the staff had climbed another 20 to 573 and the payroll was at $4,347,400.

In current '66-'67 industry's estimates provide for a staff of 625 and a payroll of $4,260,000, down $87,000 from last year.

This, Mr. Hales has charged, is "empire building."

Both Mr. Drury and Mr. Golden have denied it.

Mr. Golden argues that the figures themselves refute it, demonstrating that industry's "just about like any other department" in relation of the number of personnel to payroll.

On that basis, if industry's a boondoggle as Mr. Hales sees it, then so are the other departments.

Starting today, you can rent a new 1966 car from your neighbourhood Ford and Mercury dealers!

We call this new service Ford Rent-A-Car. It's inexpensive, quick and convenient. We're close to where you live, or work, which means we can put you in a Ford-built car faster than anyone else around. Just stop in and see us.

Who can use Ford Rent-A-Car? Ford Rent-A-Car is for everybody. It's for wives whose husbands take

Aldermen Stiffen Strike Stand

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hopes assistance to demands by the out- for settlement in Vancouver's side workers stiffened notice- Civic Outside Workers' strike ably in the wake of refusal by gues dinner Wednesday, while strikers to accept binding arbi- another municipal employees' tration.

A hard-line majority of alder- men, apparently confident of public support, Tuesday domi- nated council's first open debate on the strike since it began 11 days ago.

In North Vancouver, mean- while, the school board, city and district's 700 municipal employ- ees, Wednesday served strike notice.

The action was a quick follow- up to a government supervised strike vote, in which workers voted by an 80 per cent major- ity in favor of the area's first municipal walkout since 1958.

In the Lenkurt Electric dis- trict, the Vancouver and Dis- trict Labor Council lashed out at the RCMP for the force's part in the dispute.

The council voted unanimous- ly to initiate a study to obtain documentary evidence of RCMP activities during the Lenkurt affair.

Provincial Attorney General Robert Bonner has taken over the contempt proceedings in the dispute and will issue sum- monses against certain labor figures.

Four Attending Institute

Four Greater Victoria univer- sity students will attend a four- day leadership institute in Oc- tawa at month's end, sponsored by the Students' United Nations Association in Canada.

The conference, being held at Carleton University May 30-June 3, will focus on furthering the work of the UN on campus and on the turmoil in Africa.

Maisie Thomas, 7291 West Saanich Road, Brentwood, and Dennis Hartman, 2315 Fernwood Road, will represent Notre Dame University in Nelson, where they are both second-year students.

University of Victoria rep- resentative will be Jan Hosson, 1039 Deal Street, student direc- tor of women's athletics in the coming year. A second delegate will be chosen today.

Whose Name Was on the Bomb?

By RON COLLISTER
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A few seconds more and bomb-maniac Paul Chertier could have wiped out half the government.

Or maybe the leaders of the Opposition.

Or a dozen or so of the happy-holidaying schoolchildren jammed in the galleries for a lesson in parliament in action.

Instead, the bomb went off prematurely as Chertier left the third-floor washroom, spotting the walls with dime-size pieces of his clothes, stuck with his own blood.

CAPITAL QUESTION

Whose name was written on the bomb?

Prime Minister Pearson, maybe, according to rumors.

But it could have been the wild, slightest act of a man in torment with the world to the point of insanity.

For years, people had been saying, in jest, that the only way to clear up the mess in Parliament was to put a bomb in it.

FIRST IN 400

Wednesday, Chertier tried it, the first man to try such an act in a British parliamentary institution since Guy Fawkes put the gunpowder under Westminster 400 years ago.

Guy Fawkes failed. Paul Chertier's bomb went off. He was mangled, his right arm was blown off.

Inside the washroom, an inch-thick wall of marble was cracked from top to bottom. One side of the swinging doors was shattered into splinters, blood smeared the floor.

The damage told the tale that Chertier was leaving the washroom, the bomb with fuse lit either in his right hand or in his right pocket, presumably to take the 14 steps to the doors of the public galleries.

It was his right side that took the full brunt of the blast. And it was the right door, looking out, that was totally destroyed.

Chertier was lying on his back and had been clearly thrown there as he moved to leave the room.

NEXT DOOR

The explosion took place in the washroom next door to the office of External Affairs Minister Paul Martin and four doors from the Commons office of the prime minister.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Martin were in the Commons chamber. It was 2:55 p.m., a day slightly duller than most, and Labor Minister John Nicholson was speaking.

A roar shook the whole building, freezing everyone in their seats.

Mr. Nicholson halted, but as the noise died away, he resumed speaking.

News men tore out of the press gallery and MPs laughed at the stampede. "Hurry up, boys," they shouted.

THICK SMOKE

In the third-floor corridor, between the public gallery and the minister's office, the smoke was impenetrable.

Dark-uniformed security men were scurrying around, like ghosts, in the smoke.

The air reeked of dynamite, and there was chaos everywhere.

GASPING GIRLS

Girl secretaries were pouring out of the offices, gasping and shouting.

Security men poured into the washroom. The lights had been blown out. There was only one small window in the room and, without the artificial light, it looked like an early-morning graveyard.

The smoke was rising from the floor, and security men needed headlights to see the appalling scene of destruction.

Another survivor, Manuel Rorion, 19, a mess boy on the ship, found water on the raft was up to his waist. He said he could hear persons shouting in agony as sharks attacked them.

Meanwhile, in the Commons, MPs tried to continue despite the rising pandemonium.

A note was passed to Mr. Pearson, who passed it over to Conservative leader Diefenbaker.

Mr. Diefenbaker rose and announced that someone had just passed away in the precincts of the House.

SHOULD ADJOURN

He suggested that the House should not be carrying on and should adjourn.

Mr. Pearson confirmed the report and agreed that the House should adjourn until 4 p.m., for about an hour.

The rest of the MPs flooded out to the scene of the explosion.

Sluggish Kidneys May Bring Restless Nights

If you "fight the pillow", toss and turn all through the night and don't really know why—perhaps here's news and help for you! One cause of such restlessness may be traced to sluggish kidney action. Urinary irritation and bladder discomfort may follow. The result can be backache and kidney pain. This is when Dodo's Kidney Pills can help bring relief. Dodo's stimulate kidney action, help relax the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Dodo's, and see if you don't feel better, rest better. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years. New large size saves money.

HAVE YOU WRITTEN A BOOK?

A representative of a New York publishing firm will be in Victoria on Tuesday, June 21st. He will be interviewing local authors in a quest for finished manuscripts suitable for book publication. All subjects will be considered, including fiction and non-fiction.

If you have completed a book-length manuscript (or nearly so) on any subject, and would like a professional appraisal (without cost or obligation), please write immediately describing your work and stating which part of the day (a.m. or p.m.) you would prefer for an appointment. You will promptly receive a confirmation for a definite time and place.

Authors with completed manuscripts unable to appear may send them directly to our West Coast branch office (address below) for a free reading and evaluation. We will also be glad to hear from those whose literary works are still in progress.

136 Survivors Picked Up

Panic Grips Doomed Ship

MANILA (AP)—A small trading ship Wednesday picked up 136 survivors among 282 persons aboard the steamer Pioneer Cebu, sunk Monday by typhoon Irma. Some told of panic, screaming mothers and battles to the death with sharks in raging seas.

As the search was pressed for others aboard the doomed, 740-ton vessel the government launched an investigation into rescue operations to see why it took more than 40 hours to find the survivors.

The trading ship Diana rescued them from lifeboats, rafts and even from the half-sunken hull, north of Cebu Island in the central Philippines, said reports from the scene. Yet rescue craft had searched the area Tuesday and reported they sighted nothing in the stormy waters.

SHIP CAPSIZED

The Philippine news service correspondent in Cebu quoted Ramon Aldaneze, 39, as saying the ship capsized about 30 minutes after radiating she was aground on a reef.

He said Capt. Floro Yap, still missing, ordered the passengers to abandon ship shortly before she sank.

"Panic ensued," Aldaneze said. "I heard many yell 'God please save us.' Children shrieked and several passengers made a dash for a lifeboat but this also sank."

Aldaneze said he grabbed a life jacket and climbed aboard a life raft. Two other passengers, including a young boy, tried to get into the raft but were carried away by the huge seas.

War Hero Dies Here at 87

Winner of the Military Cross in the First World War, Maj. R. Thornton Osborne, 360 Douglas, died Wednesday at 87.

He won the medal while serving in France with the Royal Field Artillery.

Later he was mentioned in dispatches by Field Marshal Douglas Haig, and the citation was signed by Winston Churchill, secretary of state for war.

Formerly of Vancouver and Duncan, he was Vancouver manager of Maple Leaf Flour Mills before moving to Victoria.

He is survived by his wife, Evelyn; a daughter, Mrs. Rhona Arlett; and a granddaughter, Mrs. Ted Pulford.

Private family funeral services will be held today.

Boathouse Decorated After Panel Paint-In

By DOROTHY BUTLER

QUALICUM BEACH—Local art students and artists from Victoria and Vancouver have contributed to a successful "Paint-In" arranged by the owners of the Qualicum Beach Boathouse. There are eight panels in all, and the work features abstracts, impressionistic and contemporary art, cartoons and landscapes.

Artists were: Elizabeth Cleverly, Parksville; Garry Porter and Eileen Willescott of Victoria, who combined their efforts; Nancy Randall, Errington, and Jackie Tilley, of Bowser, students at Qualicum Beach High School; Christine Nelson and Sally Alexander, Victoria; Trudy Stevenson, Vancouver; Pauline Woodward, Qualicum Beach student; Jan Leeson, Qualicum Beach student; Lyda Erickson, Qualicum Beach student; Mrs.

Gilberte Hostin, Parksville school teacher.

Judges will make their choice on Monday, May 23. Prizes of merchandise will be awarded.

The pictures will be left in position during the summer, and will be donated to the local Rotary Club for sale at the club's annual auction in August.

Honors Shared

DUNCAN—This year's Cowichan High School valedictorian Tim Hicks, 18, will share the platform with the school's retiring vice-principal, Ernest Goddard, at the annual valediction for 150 students, 7:30 p.m. Friday.

For Tim Hicks, Friday's event will be the beginning of a career with the Royal Canadian Air Force under the Regular Officers' Training Plan to study engineering, and for Mr. Goddard it will mark the end of a 25-year teaching career at the school.

Indian Band Council Nominations Closed

DUNCAN—Three members of the Cowichan Indian Band including incumbent Chief Mike Underwood will contest the top position and total of 26 will run for seats on the band council.

Amongst the chief candidates are incumbent councillor Dennis Alphonse and band member Elwood Modeste.

Nominations for the May 24 Indian Band Council election closed Monday night.

Chief Underwood is completing his second, two-year term.

Band secretary Miss Louise Underwood said the election will take place May 24 at the Long House, from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m. for the 500 eligible voters of the Cowichan Indian Band.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly one may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloated disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Atomic Spy Released From Prison

LEWISBURG, Pa. — Harry Gold, first atomic spy convicted in the United States, has been freed after 16 years in prison.

Gold, now 55, white-haired and wearing glasses, was sentenced to 30 years for carrying nuclear secrets to Russian agents during and after the Second World War. He will finish the rest of his term on parole.

Heavy rain was falling as the thin-faced biochemist walked out of Lewisburg penitentiary with his brother, Joseph, and his lawyer.

Asked how he felt in the downpour, Gold replied: "The sun is shining for me."

Gold said that he hoped to get a job in some medical facility and that all he has been thinking of while in prison is his future — "in some hospital or research establishment."

LAUSANNE, Switzerland — Greek film star Melina Mercouri and American director Jules Dassin were married in a civil ceremony at Lausanne's town hall.

GEORGETOWN — British Guiana's former premier, Dr. Cheddi Jagan, has officially agreed to accept the office of leader of the opposition under the country's new independence constitution. British Guiana is scheduled to attain independence under the name Guyana on May 26.

HOLLYWOOD — Actress Sandra Dee and singer-husband Bobby Darin have separated. The blonde film star did not give a reason for the breakup, the spokesman said, although she confirmed that Darin had moved out of their Toluca Lake home. The pair separated several years ago but reconciled.

WASHINGTON — In what has become almost a revolving door stream of VIP patients, Bethesda Naval Medical Centre has admitted Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield and released White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers. Mansfield was stricken with what a colleague called "a slight touch of flu."

PRINCE GEORGE — Wesley Norman Chawell, 37, was charged in magistrate's court here with capital murder in the beating death of Jones (Gothard) Winks, a 67-year-old trapper. RCMP arrested Chawell 45 minutes after the Chief Lake trapper was found beaten behind a hotel in this north central city a week ago. Winks's wallet containing $130 was missing.

DETROIT — Some $2,000 in refrigerated cash got "hot" Mrs. Wilma Causey, 20, told Detroit police a woman and a man armed with a revolver entered her home, forced her to lie on the floor and grabbed the money from the refrigerator.

TOKYO — Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta has arrived here for a 10-day official visit. Manning was welcomed at the airport by Japanese ministry and Canadian embassy officials. Manning was accompanied by

Air Cargo Centre Planned

WINNIPEG (CP) — Air Canada will design, construct and finance a $2,000,000 air cargo Winnipeg by mid-1967. Announcement of the terminal was made at a press conference Wednesday by Manitoba Premier Roblin and H. W. Seagrims, executive vice-president of Air Canada.

Official Faces Perjury Trial

YELLOW KNIFE, N.W.T. (CP) — Abraham Okpik, a member of the Northwest Territories governing council, has been committed for trial on a charge of perjury.

Magistrate Peter Parker committed the 36-year-old Yellowknife resident in connection with evidence Okpik gave last fall when he was acquitted on a charge of impaired driving.

The accused, an employee of the federal Northern Affairs Department, has elected trial by judge alone. The trial is likely to be held on late June before Mr. Justice J. H. Sissons of Territorial Court.

Okpik is a technical officer helping several Eskimo families here to adjust to town life. He was appointed to his seat on the territorial council by Prime Minister Pearson, who was filling a council vacancy.

Air Canada will finance the entire project — at one point Manitoba indicated it would share the costs — but Mr. Seagrims said space in the automated cargo centre will be rented.

Mr. Roblin and Mr. Seagrims avoided mentioning any relation between the cargo centre and the present Air Canada overhaul base here, which the airline wants to shutdown.

Two Major Stars Pace Mount View

Roger Barnett and Heather Wood came out as the featured performers in the annual Mount View High School track and field championships Wednesday.

Barnett topped the individual champions by leading the junior boys' competition with 29 1/2 points. He won the 100 yards, the 400 yards, the long, high and triple jumps, placed third in the discus throw and was a member of the record-breaking 400-yard relay team.

And he set records in two of his victories — 38 feet seven inches in the triple jump and 58.5 seconds for the 400 yards.

Miss Wood, senior girls' champion with 20 1/2 points, set new records in the 60 yards (7.4 seconds), the 100 yards (11.7 seconds) and the 220 yards (27.1 seconds) and was a member of the relay team which set a new mark of 55.4 seconds for the 400 yards.

Two other meet records were tied. Gary McCaffray was timed in 10.5 seconds for the senior boys' 100 yards and Shannon Mair in 7.5 seconds for the junior girls' 60 yards.

Behind Barnett in the junior boys' competition came Ken Skinner with 22 1/2 points and Ken Meadows with 15. Kathie Robbins, with 15 1/2 points, gave Miss Wood a hard tussle in their division.

Ross Swanton won the senior boys' individual honors with 26 1/2 points, followed by John Hughes with 22 and Doug McLeod with 14. Deirdre Ogden was an easy winner in the junior girls' competition with 25 1/2 points. Miss Mair was next with 13 1/2 points.

Girl Well Bullet Frees Kidnap Victim

Boy's Shot Kills Sniper

SHADE GAP, Pa. (UPI)—Peggy Ann Bradnick, a 17-year-old girl kidnapped by a deranged sniper-turned-killer who kept her chained by the neck for seven terrifying days, was rescued Wednesday and her abductor shot to death in a brief gun battle.

The kidnapper, William D. Hollenbaugh, 44, who killed an FBI agent Tuesday, was felled by a single bullet. Larry Rubek, 15, a farm boy, said he killed Hollenbaugh by firing a shotgun slug through the window of his home at nearby Fort Littleton.

Rubek said he fired through the window with a shotgun loaded with a pumpkin ball, a solid lead projectile used to kill deer. He said Hollenbaugh was only about 10 feet away when he fired.

Several shots were exchanged outside the Rubek home where Hollenbaugh, using Peggy Ann as a shield, apparently had attempted to take refuge from the state police force that was closing in on him.

NOT MOLESTED

Despite her ordeal, a physician at the hospital where Peggy Ann was taken said a preliminary examination showed the girl was in good condition and had not been molested by her kidnapper.

A police spokesman said only a ballistics test could determine who fired the fatal shot, but this can not be accomplished since the bullet passed through Hollenbaugh's body and was not found.

A deputy sheriff, Francis Sharpe, was shot and critically wounded by Hollenbaugh in the battle, which ended one of the nation's most bizarre kidnap cases of recent years.

THANK GOD

Peggy Ann, hysterical, bruised and disheveled, escaped the kidnapper's clutches as the gunfight started and fell into the arms of a reporter who was with a state police detail manning a roadblock near the Rubek home.

"Thank God... thank God... I'm safe... I'm safe," she cried over and over to Pittsburgh Press reporter Scott Rombach, who pushed her to the ground to avoid being hit by bullets.

"It was him or me," the Rubek boy said. "I didn't have time to hesitate. I knew he'd keep us for hostages or shoot us, so I fired."

GOING HOME

Thus ended a fantastic series of events which began a week ago Wednesday when Peggy Ann was kidnapped while she and her five younger brothers and sisters were walking from a school bus on a dirt road leading to their mountain home near Shade Gap.

From Wednesday until Sunday Night, hundreds of law officers and civilian volunteers scoured an 18 square mile area in the Tuscarora Range on foot in a search for the kidnapper and his captive.

The futile large-scale search was called off Sunday Night, but state police and FBI agents continued to hunt with the aid of tracking dogs.

HERMIT

Ever since the kidnap, area residents were sure the abductor was the deranged sniper they knew as the "mysterious masked mountain man" who for more than two years had terrorized the area with his sniper attacks from ambush. In that time, at least two persons were wounded seriously by the sniper.

However, not until Tuesday night — when the FBI announced the identification — did the residents learn that the sniper was their own well-known "bicycle Pete," an apparently harmless hermit who spent most of his time in the woods, never worked and was an expert shot. He got his nickname because he always rode a bicycle when he came into Shade Gap.

EX CONVICT

Hollenbaugh, an ex-convict who spent 13 years in a hospital for the criminally insane, died on the way to the Fulton County medical centre at nearby McConnellsburg.

Peggy Ann and Sharpe were taken to the same hospital. Sharpe underwent surgery and Peggy Ann was given a hearty breakfast and sedatives which put her to sleep.

Her family physician, Dr. Gerald T. Lorentz, spoke to the girl at the hospital.

CHAINED

She told him that after the kidnapping she was kept in a cabin near the top of one of the twin peaks of Tuscarora Mountain for three or four days. She said Hollenbaugh kept her chained by the neck. Later Hollenbaugh took her, still chained, into the woods.

Students Riot In Belgium, 30 Arrested

LOUVAIN, Belgium (Reuters)—Police have arrested 30 Flemish students after riots against an ecclesiastical decree retaining equal status for Flemings and Walloons at the city's ancient Roman Catholic university.

The arrests were made after the city burgomaster banned all meetings of more than five persons.

Earlier in the night riot police used tear gas and water pumps to disperse students who smashed windows of the Majestic Hotel for the second successive night.

Artist Heads Artists

Victoria artist Mona (Onerva) Holm has been named first president of the new Victoria Art Club.

Initially, the club registered 26 members. Fees for joining are a basic $4 a month, and family memberships will be encouraged, Mrs. Holm said.

Among activities planned by the new club are sketching expeditions and an occasional show.

"We aim to help each other as much as we can—learning from each other and helping each other to market valuable work," Mrs. Holm said.

Other officers elected were: Viola Martin, vice-president; Kay Blake, secretary; and Hazel Hornsby, treasurer.

Dental Plan B.C.'s First

VANCOUVER (CP)—Canada's first pre-paid dental insurance scheme was announced Wednesday in Vancouver to cover 1,200 members of a B.C. union.

The plan, to go into effect July 1, will cover members of Local 280 of the Sheetmetal Workers' and Flat Deck Roofers' Union.

There are 1,200 members in the union, but with wives and children included under the insurance, more than 4,800 persons will be covered.

DISCLOSED JOINTLY

The plan was announced jointly in a press conference by the union, the Dental Services Association of B.C. and Credit Union Health Services (C.U. and C.).

C.U. and C. general manager,

Joseph H. Corsbie, said his organization will make similar dental plans available to any groups of employees currently receiving medical benefits from C.U. and C.

PLAN EXPANDED

Union business agent, Alex McGee, said the union welfare fund currently covers C.U. and C. medical costs, off-work indemnity, and $5,000 life insurance premiums for union members, but it is now being expended to cover dental care.

The fund will be assessed $2.60 a month for each single employee. There are about 250. Corsbie described the plan as a co-insurance scheme in which C.U. and C. will pay 50 per cent of the dentists' bills and the patient will pay the other 50 per cent.

City Square in Fine Care

Centennial Square is going to be a jumping spot this summer. It is all the plans for its use materialize.

Since City Hall recently relaxed its restrictions on the use of the municipal focal point, a varied program which included band concerts, dancing displays and athletic exhibitions has been lined up.

To start things off, there will be a cake-cutting on Monday. A two-ton cake in a framework of decorated edible sugar will be cut Monday, and from then until Labor Day members of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club will be on hand to sell pieces, three for $1.

TO CUT CAKE

The cake will be cut by eight-year-old Rene Poirier, representing the Handicapped Children's Clinic, and the money will be used by the Kiwanians to finance a summer camp on Lake Cowichan for the handicapped youngsters.

George Molec of Nanaimo, who makes a specialty of big cakes (a 25,000-pound one for the Seattle World's Fair) has been organizing the project for the Kiwanians.

Mayor Toome, L. J. Wallace, provincial centennial co-ordinator, area reeves and other dignitaries will be present at the cake-cutting ceremony.

CONCERT, TOO

Other programs for the square include a concert by the Katherine Costain dancers and Oak Bay High School Choir at 3 p.m. May 28. A gymnastic display by the Y.M.C.A. is slated but undated, and there will be a number of band concerts throughout the summer.

Ethnic groups who wish to use the square will be welcome, but they and all others must get in touch with Greater Victoria Centennial Society co-ordinator Gerry Gosley, who has an office in the shopping arcade in the square, and set up times and schedules.

About the only groups barred from the square are those who wish to hold demonstrations of a political or religious nature.

HUGE CALENDAR

A huge calendar fixed on the wall of the centennial co-ordinator's office should end overlapping on centennial events.

Jerry Gosley has reverted to the calendar, marking it in different-colored inks depending on the type of event—green for sports, red for theatrical events, black for exhibitions.

The calendar has already caused an important convention to change its date. On consulting centennial office, organizers learned from Mr. Gosley their proposed dates would just miss the RCMP musical ride.

The convention was re-scheduled, and a greater attendance is expected as a result.

Greater Victoria Centennial Society is to produce the play Emily Carr—A biography with pictures at McPherson Playhouse Oct. 26 to 29.

The play was written by Herman Voaden, and will be produced by Peter Mannering of Bastion Theatre.

Margaret Martin, well-known local actress, will take the starring role.

Children belonging to the junior branch, Victoria Natural History Society, are spending weekends opening up a centennial trail through Francis Park.

Strike Forces Air Travel For 479

LONDON (CP)—Canadian Pacific Steamships announced today it has made air-charter arrangements for Empress of England passengers whose departure to Canada was delayed by the British seamen's strike.

A total of 479 passengers will be flown to Canada on three charter flights Friday and Saturday from London, Manchester and Prestwick, Scotland, a spokesman reported. Some other travellers decided to wait until they could make the journey by sea.

The 25,000-ton liner Empress of England had been scheduled to leave Tuesday from Liverpool for Quebec and Montreal.

Mine Mill Gets Boost

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—Local 924 of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union (Ind.) has signed a two-year agreement with United Keno Hill Mines Ltd., a Yukon-based mining operation.

The agreement provides for wage increases of 18 per cent on a basic wage of $2.54, improvements in statutory holidays and vacations and Sunday premiums for workers at Elsie Calumet and Keno Mines.

Some 600 yards have been cleared so far, and trail engineer-sponsor for another project in the park—the building of an additional to the nature house which will be used as a lecture room and auditorium.

Estimated cost—$3,500. A nature trail three miles long is also to be cut in Goldstream Park—from Camp 40 to the main highway. It will be finished in 1967.

Elk Lake will respond to the fierce chant of Indian warriors Monday as the war canoe races take place as part of Saanich Diamond Jubilee celebrations.

Ed Lum said Wednesday there would be 18 large war canoes taking part in the races, which are planned to start at 2 p.m. There are entries from up-Island points, some from the mainland, and two from the United States, he said. There will also be a salmon barbecue at the lake, he added. The jubilee's rhododendron show and band concert planned for Playfair Park last Sunday but cancelled because of the weather, will be held at 2 p.m. this Sunday, chairman Lum said. Playfair Park is off Quadra between Union and Tattersall.

gas.

Are you one of them? HOME helps you decide.

Here's a suggestion from HOME that could save you enough money this year to pay for your next set of licence plates.

It's a common belief that any car will perform better with a premium gasoline. Not so, according to automotive engineers. In fact, about seven out of ten cars on the road right now will run just as well with HOME's new high octane regular gasoline—and save several cents per gallon in the bargain.

HOME's improved regular is made to order for most models produced before 1962, plus almost all current four- and six-cylinder family cars—and quite a few

V/8's. Should you be saving with HOME's new regular gas? Try this simple test. Sometime when you're sure your engine is tuned to manufacturer's settings, fill up with a tank of HOME Regular. Now, slow down to about twenty in high gear, then accelerate at full throttle to thirty. If the car picks up smoothly without knocking or pinging, you might as well stay with HOME Regular. You won't get any better performance or mileage by paying for a premium gasoline.

If you're still not sure, there's a HOME dealer near you. He can recommend the right HOME fuel for your engine. You can't buy a more powerful regular (or premium, for that matter) anywhere in the province.

'Don't Kill Our Charlie' Copter Pilots Plead

SAIGON (Reuters) — American army helicopter pilots at the Doc Hoa airfield near this South Vietnamese capital have appealed to visitors: "Please don't shoot our Charlie."

Charlie is a Viet Cong guerrilla sniper who has fired about 300 times at planes taking off from the field — and missed about 299 times.

Charlie's one hit was an accident, have asked military personnel not to shoot back at the sniper.

"The Viet Cong may replace him with someone who can shoot straight."

Honeymooner Won't Be Driving

A man needed a marriage licence and not a driver's licence to go on his honeymoon, said Magistrate William Ostler in central magistrate's court Wednesday.

Before the court was Keith Quinlan, 47, Tippet, who had pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

Defence counsel Dermot Owen-Flood said that Quinlan did not need his driver's licence in his employment but had been married Tuesday.

MARRIAGE LICENCE
Mr. Owen-Flood said that Quinlan faced the punishment of having to go on his honeymoon without a driver's licence.

Magistrate Ostler said: "I do not imagine it is the first time people have gone on a honeymoon on a bus."

"They do not need any licence for that, except a marriage licence."

$300 FINE
Quinlan was found by police April 27 slumped behind the wheel of his car on Fort Street. The motor was running and the car lights were on, court was told.

Quinlan was fined $300 and his licence was suspended.

A youth who kneed a man in the side, cracking three ribs, during a free-for-all in a party Boxing Day was convicted of assault causing bodily harm.

Gary Kelly, 3179 Alder, was remanded to May 25 when he will be tried on a charge of causing wilful damage.

Kelly was one of a group of youths who crashed a party at the home of Joseph Rivard, 200 Maddock West, court was told.

FISTS SWINGING
Calvin Bateman said he saw Kelly and another man come into the room swinging fists. He said he threw a punch in self-defence and was then knocked on to a chest.

Mr. Bateman said Kelly lifted his (Bateman's) arm and drove his knee into his ribs.

Kelly said in evidence that he was aiming at the solar plexus. He said he wanted to knock the wind out of Mr. Bateman.

Two other men have already received jail sentences for offences arising out of the free-for-all.

William Johnson, 3750 Saanich, was sentenced to one year in the Young Offenders' Unit on a charge of setting fire to material which was likely to cause a building to catch fire.

He also received an indefinite sentence of eight months.

Johnson had admitted at an earlier hearing to setting fire to some carpet and paper in a garage on Grant Street.

John Andrew drove his car to the home of William Mattick, 5273 Carbova Bay, Monday night and took about 20 gallons of farm gas.

Andrew, 3184 Millgrove, pleaded guilty to theft under $50 and was remanded to May 26 for a pre-sentence report.

Det. Charles Truett said Andrew was accompanied by another youth and a juvenile.

He said Andrew told him that the crowbar found in his car was to be used if there was any difficulty opening the pump.

Gordon Jones was sentenced to one month in jail after he pleaded guilty to his fifth vagrancy offence.

Court was told that Jones approached a man at Government and Johnson Tuesday morning. He was given a cigarette and then asked the man for a dime.

Jones told police he was unemployed and did not have any money.

He admitted in court to being intoxicated at the time and said he had a ticket to Vancouver and a job to go to.

Gerald Loudon, 18, 1579 Sonria, was fined $40 after he pleaded guilty to being a minor in possession of liquor.

Torture Trial Closing

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI)—A woman prosecutor charged Wednesday that 16-year-old Sylvia Likens died of "torture" equal only to the brutalities inflicted on prisoners in German concentration camps.

Miss Marjorie Weesner made the first summation during closing arguments in the first-degree murder trial of Mrs. Gertrude Baniszewski, 37, and four teenagers accused of torturing Sylvia to death last October.

She said evidence presented in the trial was "brutal, horrible and stomach-wrenching at times."

'LAUGHING CHILD'
Miss Weesner pictured Sylvia, who died after two weeks of what the state described as torture in a basement horror chamber in Mrs. Baniszewski's home, as "a laughing child, an obedient child, a religious child, always doing things for others."

Earlier, the prosecution indicated it would not specifically demand the death penalty for any of the five defendants, but would mention capital punishment as one of the possible verdicts.

At stake is the fate of Mrs. Baniszewski; her son John, 13; her daughter Paula, 18, and two 15-year-old neighbor boys, Coy Hubbard and Richard Hobbs.

The Indiana legislature last year passed a bill abolishing capital punishment, but Gov. Roger Branigan vetoed it. The governor has since said that if the 1967 general assembly passes the bill again he will sign it.

Wilson Warned

LONDON (UPI) — Striking seamen Wednesday warned government intervention in the wages and hours dispute with shipowners could plunge Britain into a disastrous nationwide general strike.

The blunt warning from National Union of Seamen general secretary William Hogarth came as the government banned meat exports and considered other emergency measures to alleviate the effects of the strike on Britain's shaky economy.

Hogarth told cheering strikers at South Shields that if Prime Minister Harold Wilson called in the navy to clear harbors of strike-bound ships it would "turn every trade unionist against the government and end up in a general strike with international disruption and disaster."

"I advise you to shoulder your arms and be prepared to battle tomorrow with the government as we are doing today with shipowners," he said.

There were increasing indications of broad support for the seamen from other unions.

By Wednesday afternoon Britain's first merchant marine walkout in 55 years had idled 364 ships and 10,745 of the union's 62,000 members. The situation grew worse hourly as vessels arrived and paid off their crews.

WARNING

Major meat and produce markets reacted erratically following the export ban and a threat by agriculture minister Fred Peart to ask for price controls if there were indications of profiteering by wholesalers.

Some prices rose marginally, others fell and some remained steady following sharp increases Tuesday. The price to the housewife for most goods was up since the strike began.

Hogarth accused Wilson of using pressure tactics that could "take away the right of every worker in this country to collective bargaining."

Panic Born Of Tremor

VALPARAISO, Chile (AP) — A strong earth tremor was felt Tuesday night in this port city, causing panic, but no damage or injuries. The shock also was felt in Santiago and other Chilean cities.

Then even foreign vessels not affected by the NUS walkout could not be unloaded. The NUS struck at midnight Sunday after lengthy negotiations failed to bring it and shipowners to a compromise agreement.

"Think long and hard before making a final decision which will turn every trade unionist in this country against the government and end up a general strike with international disruption and disaster."

MAKE ROOM

Informed sources said Wilson and his cabinet were worried that using navy crews to move strike-bound ships to make room for incoming vessels carrying cargoes of vital foodstuffs and raw materials could cause, if not a general strike, at least a sympathy walkout by dock workers.

U.S. Sells Uranium To India

NEW DELHI (AP) — The United States will sell India up to $100,000,000 worth of enriched uranium for India's atomic power system, an informed American source said Monday.

This is the first time the United States has agreed to sell uranium for peaceful purposes in Asia, although some sales have been made in Europe.

RCMP Ignored Plea—Witness

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has promised to investigate a report that two RCMP officers ignored pleas to help a boy beaten up on an Ottawa street.

Assistant Commissioner C. N. K. Kirk, head of RCMP operations in eastern Ontario, said he would check the circumstances surrounding the incident.

The matter came to light when The Ottawa Citizen published a letter from R. Livesey of Pembroke, who said he witnessed the beating.

The letter said the boy was "crawling desperately on hands and knees to avoid his attackers," but the RCMP officers walked away when Mr. Livesey drew their attention to the fight.

Mr. Livesey said he told the constables: "You'd better stop upon the particular circumstances."

The police, he said, replied: "We can't do anything, it is a matter for the city police."

Reporters Beaten

Los Angeles Hot Spot Flares Again

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Violence erupted in the predominantly Negro south central district Tuesday night for the third time in less than a year and two magazine reporters were beaten.

Karl Fleming, 38, Los Angeles bureau manager for Newsweek and David Moberg, 23, a staff writer for the magazine, were battered on the head with planks wielded by several youths.

The warm spring evening also was punctuated by two mysterious pistol shots, broken windows, a spate of false fire alarms, looting of the Gem Liquor Store, a rash of rock and bottle-hurling incidents and a massing of shotgun-armed police who dispersed about 500 negroes.

NEAR WATTS

At the height of the renewed violence, acting police chief

Harold Sullivan was summoned hastily from a baseball game at Dodger Stadium to confer with representatives of Mayor Samuel Yorty and Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

The hot spot of Tuesday night's flareup was at 85th and San Pedro streets, close to the hardest-hit areas during last August's Watts riot, in which 34 persons were killed and damage spiraled to $40,000,000. Tuesday night's disturbance was a mere shadow of the earlier trouble, as was an outburst last March.

MAN SHOT

With temperatures near the mid-60 mark, a crowd of about 500 persons gathered early in the evening at the Will Rogers Memorial Park at East 103rd Street for a scheduled protest to the May 7 death of Leonard Deadwyler, who was shot by a policeman following a high-speed chase.

In Simplest Terms

Law and the Driver

Many motorists are not aware of the clauses of the B.C. Motor Vehicle Act. For their benefit, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce traffic safety committee has prepared a list of traffic regulations with explanations where needed.

Not included are clauses which refer specifically to professional drivers.

SECTION 128 (11)—Flashing Yellow at Intersection

When rapid intermittent flashes of yellow light are exhibited at an intersection by a traffic control signal.

- the driver of a vehicle facing the flashes of a yellow light may cause the vehicle to enter the intersection and proceed only with caution, but shall yield the right-of-way to pedestrians lawfully within the intersection or an adjacent crosswalk; and
- a pedestrian facing the flashes of yellow light may proceed across the roadway within a marked or unmarked crosswalk with caution.

Comment

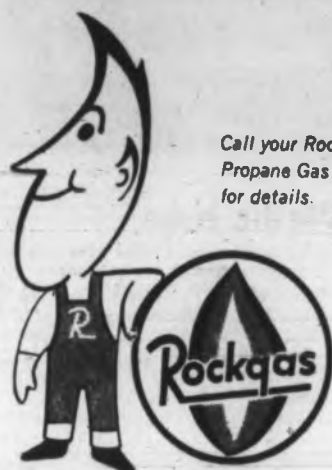

An example of this type of traffic control signal may be found on Superior Street at Menzies.

Quebec Tops Commonwealth With Best Essay in Class

An essay on the Commonwealth by 14-year-old Michael Quebec, 3660 Cudbory Bay Road, has been judged best in its class for the Commonwealth.

The contest was sponsored by the Royal Commonwealth Society, and was held in all Commonwealth countries.

Michael, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Quebec, is a Grade 9 student at Glenlyon Preparatory School for Boys.

His essay compared the wealth of Australia, New Zealand and India. Michael's prize is a bronze medal and looks worth about $15, which will come from England.

At the same school, Edward Gouge won honorable mention and commendations were earned by Robert Barnett, Ian Rainford, Fred Hughes, Bruce Homer and Douglas Jensen.

Entries in the same contest from Craigflower elementary school won the Margaret Best prize for Diane Louise Porter, and commendations for Ross Berringer and Robin Powell.

Mayor's Hat
For Mayor

A hat from mayor to mayor was presented Wednesday to A. W. Toone by members of Lakeside Theatre Productions, Ottawa. The toque was a gift from Mayor Don Reid of Ottawa. Flitting the hat are Lakeside members Jackie Crepin, Don Torney and Pat Goodline. (See Page 42). They are on stage tonight in the Dominion Drama Festival. — (Ian McKain)

Fair Act Goes On After 20-Foot Fall

The show must go on, even after a 20-foot fall.

Tom Howe of the unicycle team of Howe and McDonald was performing on the arena stage at Victoria Exhibition, when his six-foot unicycle wheel clipped a steel chain.

The unicycle spun, and cartwheeled Mr. Howe 20 feet to the arena floor. Mr. Howe smashed an automatic ironing machine on his way down.

But a few minutes later, he limped back on stage, and finished his act.

Popular display at the arena is The Great Lovell's handwriting analysis-astrology machine.

"I've taken this machine all over the continent. It's the only one of its kind in the world," Dan (The Great) Lovell, said Wednesday.

"We are the real eccentrics, you know, the ones who advertise in Fate magazines. I'm a true nut," he said.

Mr. Lovell spends about six months travelling with the machine.

The other six he spends "studying the occult" at his home in Blue Mountain, in Garibaldi Park, placing advertisements and answering inquiries about astrology and handwriting analysis.

INTEREST HERE
"There's a great interest in this in Victoria. I've come here every year for about 10 years. The people are very insecure."

According to Mr. Lovell, Victoria is in for one of the coldest winters on record this year. He said the cold will be accompanied by "flu on the rampage."

Jaycees are looking forward to Friday night, when their incoming president, Grant Johnson, will appear for a special performance in the dunk tank at 9 p.m.

Tom Howe and Marie McDonald will perform at the Queen Alexandra Solarium at 1 p.m. today.

Attendance figures are still rocking. Wednesday, about 15,550 persons saw the fair. (See also Page 9).

Immigration 'Fast Buck' For Transportation Firms

Harry Anderson, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, said Wednesday immigration drives are just a way of making a fast buck for transportation interests.

Mr. Anderson angled off on his attack as the council registered protest of Canadian recruitment of professional and skilled workers through the immigration department.

"Lots of these immigration drives are not based on the need for immigrants," he said. "There's big money to be made in immigration for the transport companies."

"The British immigration campaign is based on how many ships are going to be tied up when the tourist season is over," he said.

"Somebody is making a fast buck out of this."

'PLENTY AROUND'
The council was discussing information that officers of the Canadian immigration department were recruiting workers in Washington state.

"The peculiar thing about the whole story is they say they've got to import construction workers," said vice-president Jack Driscoll. "There's plenty of construction workers around. Every craft union in the area has a number of unemployed on its books."

LENKURT PROTEST
"Doesn't it strike you that they are trying to cut your conditions down by flooding the market?"

The council voted to send a telegram to Attorney-General Robert Bonner charging that the RCMP "incited" trouble among pickets at the strike-bound Lenkurt Electric plant in Vancouver.

DISGUISED
IWA representative Jack Groves said he was told the story by some of the picketers.

RCMP in plain clothes mingled with the pickets singing Solidarity Forever "and acting as if they were some of the boys in the dispute," he said.

'SNUCK OFF'
"They hung around long enough to get a good look at the boys, then they snuck off to their barracks, changed into uniforms and returned and that's when the trouble started."

He moved the wire should say the council members "strongly defend and deplore these movements."

Reading a draft of the wire back, Mr. Anderson said the RCMP "came back and commenced to fight with the pickets."

The council also voted to protest to city hall that an office cleaning firm hired by the city employs non-union workmen.

Thetis Picnic

Members of Thetis Park Nature Sanctuary Association will hold their annual picnic and tidy-up at the sanctuary Saturday.

Members will meet at 10 a.m. at the sanctuary sign. Others needing transportation should be at the Monterey parking lot at 9:30 a.m.

Panel Art Judges at Work

Around Town

Even if contest judges don't have a difficult time choosing the winner among artists who have decorated Victoria's fence, they're going to have a long job.

Practically all panels of the fence around the museum and archives site are filled with something eye-catching—everything from rather delightful creative art to risqué daubs and slogans, and the work of sundry vandals.

FINAL DECISION
The four judges are making their individual assessments this week, and will meet at 10:30 a.m. Saturday to decide the winners. Results will be announced in Sunday morning's Colonist.

Judges are Works Minister Chant, Art Gallery Director Colin Graham, Mayor Toone and Professor Tony Emery of the University of Victoria.

All artists must be sure their names and addresses are legibly lettered on their work to avoid confusion.

The prizes, and those offering them:
Best painting, any style, $100 from The Daily Colonist, with $25 for second place and $10 for third.

Painting making best use of peep-hole, $100 from Peasey's Drug Store.

Best centennial theme, $100 party bond from Hagar Investments.

Best historical theme or historical figure, $100 from the Royal London Wax Museum.

Best peace theme, $25 from the Voice of Women.
Best seascape, $25 from Big Ben's Drive-In, with $15 for second place and $10 for third place.

In addition, steak dinners will be provided at the Imperial Inn for the best over-all winner.

Queens Victoria will be remembered again Friday in a ceremony chiefly attended by Grade 6 pupils from Greater Victoria schools.

The annual 100th salute to Queen Victoria will be held on the steps of the Legislative buildings at 10:45 a.m.

Provincial archivist Willard Ireland will address the youngsters.

Colquitz Junior High School band under H. J. Bigsby will play hymns and anthems.

A 19-year-old construction worker is in satisfactory condition with back lacerations in St. Joseph's Hospital after a scaffolding collapsed on him Wednesday afternoon.

Phillip Nott, 85 Obced, was laying bricks on the scaffolding at the time of the mishap, at the back of the B.C. Hydro bus garage.

B.C. Sweater 'Ghastly' On Wilson

An Indian sweater worn by British Prime Minister Harold Wilson caused a furore in the Fleet Street press, which branded it a "ghastly garment."

But a leading Victoria Indian sweater dealer says the British should think twice before teeing off on sartorial inelegance.

Norman Loughheed, manager of the Cowichan Trading Company, sounded the caution after hearing that London papers had blasted Mr. Wilson's sweater as a "hideously-patterned tummy-warmer."

IN PRIVATE
A gift from an unknown Vancouver admirer, the sweater received this review from The Daily Mirror after he wore it playing golf.

"It is really rather endearing when a man boldly wears some ghastly garment knitted especially for him with loving care."

"But if Harold feels he's got to wear this horrible jumper to please whoever presented it to him, why doesn't he wear it in private where only his nearest and dearest will have to suffer it?"

EXAMPLE?
Retorted Mr. Loughheed: "By the same token, it seems that the scruffier the tweed over there, the better they like it."

But he admitted the sweater might have been an unfortunate example of the Indian art.

"The unknown admirer might have knitted it herself," he speculated. "It could have been a real stinker."

VARY
He pointed out that Indian sweaters vary "from the downright horrible to the very, very beautiful," depending largely on who makes them. This is reflected in the variation in cost—$17 to $50.

Experts regard the best as better than the famous home-crafted sweaters of the Shetland Islands and Mexico, and Irish homespun, he said.

But the British press showed no understanding. "It grieves me to see him wearing that terrible jumper," continued the Mirror's fashion writer. "I beg Mary (Mrs. Wilson) to send it to a jumble sale."

The whole nation would be greatly relieved.

Esquimalt's May Queen, Sandy Johnson, will be crowned by the retiring May Queen in Kinsman Gorge Park at 6:30 p.m. Friday.

She will be accompanied by Princesses Gayle Laurie and Sheila Lloyd; ladies in waiting Lynne Fox and Jo Anne Poltano; flower girls, Linda Barnes and Susan Hill and pages Sharon Young and Karen DeBaermaeker.

Welcome address will be given by Reeve Ray T. Bryant. Guest band at the ceremony will be from Rossland-Trail High School.

Cuff links and tie tack sets worth $97.40 were stolen Tuesday afternoon from display cases at Robertson's Men's Wear, 755 Yates.

City police said the theft occurred when the store was open, noon and 1:30 p.m.

C. S. Burchill of the World Federalists movement told delegates of the Victoria Labor Council Wednesday the government would listen to the world government movement if it had 20,000 members.

Instead of 2,000, you'd see the government announce world policy and call for revision of the United Nations charter," he said. Canadian membership is 2,000.

"And if one or two national governments did that, a great many others would follow."

Fall Tour Set For Navy Band
A six-week tour of major cities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia will be taken by the Royal Canadian Navy Band from Canadian Forces Base in Esquimalt this fall.

Under the direction of Lieut. Peter Medcalf, who assumes his new duties in July, the band will play in Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Edmonton and on the B.C. mainland.

Majority of concerts will be played before high school students, but there is a chance the band will perform during half-time ceremonies early in this year's professional football schedule.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. David R. Coell, wife of the Commanding Officer of The Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), entertained the wives of the serving officers of the Regiment recently at a buffet dinner in honor of Mrs. W. H. V. Matthews, M.C., C.D., who is retiring as Chief of Staff B.C. District, and during the evening a presentation of a regimental lapel pin was made to Mrs. Matthews. Ladies attending were Mrs. H. A. Davie, Mrs. G. F. Roseborough, Mrs. T. A. Blackwood, Mrs. J. S. Caldwell, Mrs. E. L. deBourcier, Mrs. M. E. Heppell, Mrs. H. W. Johnston and Miss Elizabeth Swemle.

Dinner Guests

Miss Terrie Cain and Mr. Ernie Fullerton of Victoria who entertained guests at the opening of the Vernon Civic Centre Complex and Community Centre were guests of honor at a dinner party given by Mrs. A. Moncur in her home at Okanagan Landing. Other guests from Victoria were Mayor and Mrs. A. Toone, Miss Susan Toone and Mrs. Marion Fullerton. Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Armistage hosted a luncheon at their Vernon home in honor of Miss Cain and Mr. Fullerton.

Gifts In Miniature Cot

Mrs. J. Smith, Mrs. Rose Ellison, Mrs. L. Redgate and Mrs. A. Hickford were co-hostesses at a shower in honor of Miss Dianne Hewison, May bride-elect. The affair was held in Mrs. Hickford's Bay Street home. As Miss Hewison is a recent graduate of the Royal Jubilee Hospital School of Nursing the room was decorated to resemble a hospital ward. Mrs. C. Popin, dressed in a nurse's uniform, presented Miss Hewison, her mother, Mrs. J. Hewison, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. W. Ward, with pink and mauve corsages. A miniature hospital cot held the gifts. Guests were Mrs. H. Agnew, Mrs. W. Finney, Mrs. Carrie Walley, Mrs. R. Cooper, Mrs. G. Dyson, Mrs. E. Yarwood, Mrs. H. Wakefield, Mrs. E. Watters, Mrs. H. McLennan, Mrs. Grace Thayer, Mrs. F. Hughes, Mrs. T. Kirsop and Miss Gail Hewison.

In London

Among Victorians visiting London the following have signed the register at British Columbia House: Miss Barbara Tisdall, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Stott, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd G. Watkins, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Rickinson, The Hon. Wesley Black and Mrs. Black, Mr. Eric Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hale, Dr. and Mrs. L. Pink, Mrs. Eleanor Hill, Miss Carolyn Nip, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Cohen, Miss Lillian B. Smethurst, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Whittemore.

Miscellaneous Shower

The home of Mrs. G. J. Ireland was the scene of a recent miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Trudy Smith. Corsages were presented to Miss Smith, her mother, Mrs. W. T. Smith, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. G. C. Heller. Guests were members of Bethel No. 38 International Order of Job's Daughters and their mothers.

For Barbara Neligan

Miss Barbara Neligan whose marriage takes place on Saturday, May 21, was honored at a linen shower at the home of Miss Lynne Norris. Co-hostesses were Mrs. R. A. Norris. Games were played by those attending, after which the bride-elect was presented an array of lovely gifts. Those present were: Mrs. T. Neligan, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. L. Longland, grandmother of the bride-elect, Mrs. J. Drever, aunt of the bride-elect, Mrs. P. Neligan, Mrs. J. Peterson, Mrs. E. Peden, Mrs. K. Norris, Mrs. A. Cather, Mrs. O. Buss, Mrs. J. Stock, and the Misses B. Guzda, C. Webb, L. Strohm. Those unable to attend were: Mrs. D. Fraud, Mrs. F. Woodcock and Miss B. Fayant.

Married in Scotland

A reception was held at the San Marino Crescent home of Mrs. Olive Price in honor of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James J. McGregor who arrived from Scotland where they were recently married. A two-tiered wedding cake topped with lily of the valley and flanked by tallman rosebuds and candles, formed the attractive table centre piece. A toast to Mrs. McGregor was given by Mr. Kenneth Briggs. The newlyweds are making their home in Vancouver.

Surprise Shower

A surprise shower was given recently by Mrs. V. Jacobsen and Miss I. Christie for Miss Yvonne Daniel. The bride-elect was presented with a white carnation corsage and her mother, Mrs. H. Daniel was presented with a corsage of yellow gladioli. Gifts were presented in a decorated hamper of crepe paper. Guests were Mrs. J. Christie, Mrs. V. Smith, Mrs. E. Kullman, Mrs. B. Christie, Mrs. H. Goodsell, Mrs. P. Dakers, Mrs. H. Oxendale, Mrs. E. Turner, Mrs. J. Fox, Mrs. B. Greaves, Mrs. R. Lewis, Mrs. E. Lewis, Mrs. P. Campbell, and the Misses Judy Gonson, Julia Oxendale, Margaret Turner, Judy Rizer, Joan McCandlish, Pam Jacobsen, Janet Greaves, Sue Lewis, Janet Fox, Joan Keizer, Linda Burrows and Judy Goodsell.

Ontario Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Bolton of Stratford, Ont., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ellam, 644 Burnside Road West. They will leave next week by train for their Ontario home.

Mr. and Mrs. Simington To Live in Vancouver

A floor length gown of corded silk was chosen by Cheryl Gale Mancor when she exchanged vows with Robert Arthur Simington in St. John's Anglican Church. The dainty fitted bodice topped a full sweeping skirt covered with hand clipped chintilly lace. A coronet of lace and seed pearls held a tiered veil of silk illusion net. Rev. J. Sandys-Wunsch performed the double ring evening ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Alexander Mancor, Victoria, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Simington of North Vancouver. The bride wore an heirloom gold locket and carried a cascade of red roses, lily-of-the-valley and ivy. Mrs. W. McCreadie, matron of honor and bridesmaids Miss Pat Parsons, Miss Barbara Simington and Miss Shirley Simington were gowned alike in floor length dresses of aqua organza over taffeta. The outfits featured empire lines and gathered fullness at the back forming floating panels. They carried white carnations, red roses and ivy. Mr. Gordon Page was best man and Mr. William McCreadie, Mr. Ken Jones and Mr. Cliff Proceviat ushered guests to the pews. Orange blossoms and blue pansies decorated tables at Holyrood House for the reception. Carving the bride's table was a wedding cake made by

Salute By IODE Friday

The 47th annual IODE salute to Queen Victoria will take place at 10:45 a.m. Friday, May 20, at the parliament buildings.

Mr. Emile Michaux, conductor of Colquitz Junior Secondary band, will be in attendance and the band will play a fanfare of trumpets announcing the march of the standard bearers.

Mr. H. J. Bigsby will conduct the singing of 'O Canada' and 'Land of Our Birth' by Grade VI students from Victoria elementary schools: Monterey, Oak Bay, Langford, Esquimalt, Glanford and Gordon Head, Saanich and View Royal.

Remarks will then be given by Miss Christine MacNab, regent of municipal chapter, who will introduce the guest speaker Mr. Willard Ireland, provincial archivist.

The placing of floral offerings upon the base of Queen Victoria's monument by the pupils will then take place.

Authors Enjoy Films

Members of Canadian Author's Association, Victoria and Vancouver Island Branch, were treated to an evening of films and recordings showing Indian children taking part in various activities.

The pictures were taken by Mr. Ed Arrol, president, during the time he and his wife were teaching at Indian Day School at Alannah on Naas River.

Some of the recordings included songs by church choir made up of the Indian children. Plans were made to hold an outdoor meeting of the branch at Brentwood early in July. Mrs. Dorothy Hewitt Whyte will be convenor.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I am 12 years old and I got out of hospital a few weeks ago. I have been sick quite a lot but I have kept up with my studies and my grades are good.

Lately mom has been talking a lot about how much my sickness has cost. She says she can't buy any new clothes for a long time, or go to the beauty shop. She says we'll have to forget about a new car, too.

Yesterday some boys from school called to see if I wanted to go to a movie. When I asked mom for the money she got real mad and said I had a lot of nerve to be asking for extras after they had spent so much money on my sickness.

Dad came in and said mom was wrong. He gave me the money to go to the movie but I didn't enjoy it much.

I love my mother and I want to be a good son. I'm sorry I have been sick so much and that it is so expensive but I couldn't help it.

I can't get a job because I am too young but I have a couple of friends who have promised to let me know if a paper route opens up. I want to make some money so I can give it to mom to help make up for the things she has been doing without on account of my sickness.

Mom is a truly wonderful person and I wish you would tell me how I can make her proud of me. I want her to know how much I love her. Please help me.—DANNY

Dear Danny: You sound like a wonderful son. I wish you were mine.

I have no advice for you, Danny. You don't need any. I just hope that you will always be as generous and kind and free of bitterness as you are today.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a widower in my 70th year. I'm with him. One visit will be sufficient to learn if you actually perspire a great deal more than most people or if you are normal in this regard.

far from old, however, and I have more pep than some of my friends who are 20 years younger. I would like to take my granddaughter on a trip to Europe this summer. She is 18 years old and will have completed her freshman year at college.

My finances are limited and we could make the trip—if we used double room accommodations. Do you think it is proper for a grandfather to share a room with his 18-year-old granddaughter under these conditions?—M. V.

Dear M.V.: Sorry, Grams, no. I suggest that you both save your money and make the trip in 1967 when you can afford separate rooms.

Dear Ann Landers: I am going with a very fine young man who has a habit that drives me out of my mind. Whenever we sit down to eat my fiance reaches for the salt and pepper and sprinkles his food for five minutes. I've asked him how he knows the food needs seasoning without tasting it. He says, "Oh it's never spicy enough to suit me."

I plan to marry this man one day and I'd like you to tell me if I should speak up now or wait until we are man and wife.—ANN NOID

Dear Noid: Be quiet and learn to live with it. Consider yourself fortunate if the guy reaches no further than the salt and pepper shakers for the spice of life.

Confidential to Don't Come Near Me: I suspect your imagination is working overtime. The type of problem you describe is one I hear about at least 10 times a week. See a skin specialist and discuss this

U.S. Aims for 'Realism' Cab Driver Queried in Killing

McNamara

MONTREAL (CP) — Defence Secretary Robert McNamara of the United States said Wednesday "breaching the isolation of great nations like Red China would reduce the danger of 'potentially catastrophic misunderstandings'."

He said, "a purely military posture is not the central element" in U.S. security.

Mr. McNamara told the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors that realism is needed in U.S. relations with countries that "might be tempted to take up arms against us."

"But realism is not a hardened, inflexible unimaginative attitude."

"The realistic mind is . . .

free of naive delusions but full of practical alternatives."

There are "practical alternatives to our current relationships with both the Soviet Union and Communist China."

"But breaching the isolation of great nations like China even when that isolation is largely of its own making, reduces the danger of potentially catastrophic misunderstandings and increases the incentive on both sides to resolve disputes by reason rather than by force."

He told the editors, who gave him a standing ovation, that the present U.S. system of selective service "draws on only a minority of eligible young men and this is an inequity."

Every young person in the U.S. should be asked to "give two years of service to his country—whether in one of the military services, in the peace corps or in some volunteer developmental work at home or abroad."

The same thing should be encouraged in other countries and exchange programs worked out. The suggestion was not altogether new and "has been criticized as inappropriate while we are engaged in a shooting war."

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 26-year-old cab-driver was arrested Wednesday in connection with the bludgeoning slaying April 15 of Ernie Yet, 74, manager of a Vancouver taxi company.

He was held for questioning. No charge was laid immediately.

Donald Harris, 20, was arrested 24 hours earlier and charged with possessing $2,250 allegedly stolen from Yet. She appeared in court Wednesday (murder of Yet, who was found and was remanded to today, bleeding and battered in a garage behind his home four hours before his death. The boy is in Riverview Hospital at Essondale undergoing psychiatric examination. He is due to appear in juvenile court May 27.

Spread Gospel, Graduates Told

The 102nd graduating class of St. Louis College was urged Wednesday to get involved in community affairs and spread the Christian word.

The appeal was made by Rev. Brother W. H. Barnes, head of the English department at Vancouver College and guest speaker at the graduation exercises.

This year there were 23 graduates of the Roman Catholic school. An audience of approximately 400 watched the exercises in First United Church Fellowship Hall, 959 Balmoral.

Brother Barnes said: "Since we live in a fragmented society in which religion is expected to keep to its own compartment, the church must rely on her lay members to spread the spirit of Christ."

He cited the example of Dr. Tom Dooley, who spent his short life ministering to jungle dwellers of Southeast Asia.

Top student was Terrance Moist, who was presented with the Brother John E. Ryan memorial scholarship.

The Bishop's Medal, an award for excellence in religious studies, went to Terence Connor, who was also valedictorian. In addition, he was presented with the school's Canadian History Award for marks attained in Grade 11 exams last year.

CHRISTIAN BROTHERS
The O'Connell Award went to James Lynch, and Donald Preston won the prize as best student of French.

For the past 52 years the school has been staffed and administered by the Irish Christian Brothers.

subject from all over British Columbia at a number of briefings Wednesday.

The students, members of the Community Planning Association of B.C., are attending a course at the University of British Columbia. They are in Vancouver from all over the province.

Mayor Toome and City manager Dennis Young met the group at City Hall Wednesday morning, after which coffee was served in the legislative wing of the municipal headquarters.

LECTURES
"The Victoria Story" which illustrates the change which has taken place in the city through planning and which portrays graphically future intentions, was given by Mayor Toome.

Following this, lectures were given in committee room. For an hour or so the members of the group went back to school. Geoffrey Greenhalgh, director of community planning for the city and an assistant. Howard Quinn, spoke after which John Wade, deputy chairman of the Victoria Advisory Planning Commission, told of the planning and construction of Centennial Square.

BASTION SQUARE
The party was taken to Bastion Square where Joseph Cunliffe, project engineer, and members of his staff described the work now in progress.

The city was host at lunch in the McPherson Theatre Restaurant, after which the party was taken on a tour of Capital Improvement District Commission projects by provincial authorities.

The field trip concluded, the party returned to Vancouver in the late afternoon.

Reds Aiding Farms

MOSCOW (LAT) — Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev announced Wednesday that great numbers of city young people will be asked to volunteer for a nationwide project aimed at uplifting the economy and culture of backward Soviet villages and farms.

Both this project and another scheme — to prove farmlands by draining marshlands and irrigating arid — borrow liberally from the concepts of America's Peace Corps and the civilian conservation corps of New Deal days.

Brezhnev outlined his plans in a speech to 3,800 delegates at the opening of the 15th congress of the Young Communist League of the Soviet Union.

PEASANTS LAO
As Brezhnev explained it, the object of the new program is to speed modernization of the country's lagging agriculture. An unstated secondary aim is to create a vast number of new jobs for Soviet youth. Soviet high schools next month will graduate a huge class of 2,700,000 — three times as many as last year.

To avert a youth job crisis, the Kremlin hopes to direct many of the high school graduates into farm work.

However, a survey published here last year showed that Soviet youth regard farm work as the second least attractive job (sales clerk is the least favored).

Summer Count High at SFU

BURNABY (CP) — Enrolment at the first summer session at Simon Fraser University has risen to 983, exceeding expectations. Based on experiences at U.S. universities with summer semesters, 550 students had been expected.

“ I didn't believe the saleslady, when she said that just Fabulous stockings last twice as long. They looked so wildly sheer. Naturally, I bought them. Well, those fragile-looking stockings turned out to be almost non-runnable. (They're knit with a special lock-stitch.) They have a comfortable ribbed top that fends off garter-snap. And a clever run-guard toe. That was three weeks ago Monday, and I've worn the same pair of Just Fabulous day and night. (They're flattering as a wink.)

Honestly, Cameo, where have you been all my life?

Unprecedented

Bomb Came After Blood In Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — The explosion that killed a man in a Commons' washroom Wednesday was evidently an unprecedented event in the 99-year history of Canada's Parliament.

Neither records nor memories recall anything like it.

A bottle of animal blood was thrown to the floor of the Commons Sept. 24, 1964, splashing across the green carpeting in front of a Conservative member.

David Cowlishaw of Vancouver, head of an organization called Underdog, later told police he threw it to bring attention to the plight of a man who felt he hadn't been adequately recognized for his work as an RCMP undercover agent.

Dr. P. M. Olivier, the parliamentary counsel who has worked in the Centre Block for 42 years, recalled relatively mild incidents but little outright violence.

Occasionally, someone would start a speech in the public gallery only to be quickly cut off by watchful guards.

There had been minor scuffles among members themselves during the heat of debate.

Former Speaker George Black used a rifle to shoot at squirrels and rabbits from his office window in the 1930s.

SEVEN DIED

A fire Feb. 3, 1916, resulted in tragedy and wartime suspicion of sabotage.

Seven persons, including a Nova Scotian MP, died when it raced through the gothic building as the House sat.

A royal commission later reported no evidence that the fire was maliciously set.

Fire swept the West Wing of the same building in 1897 and the library burned in 1952.

ASSASSINATION

Thomas D'Arcy McGee, a father of Confederation, was assassinated April 7, 1868, on Sparks Street, two blocks south of the Commons, shortly after making a speech in the House.

The shooting was attributed at the time to the Fenian Brotherhood, angry at the MP for switching allegiance, and Patrick Whalen was hanged Feb. 11, 1869, in Canada's last public execution.

Sacred Cows Hit At PC Conference

By FRASER KELLY
Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — A refreshing breath of fresh air is whipping the grassroots of Canadian politics. If it continues to build the nation will enter an era in which debate replaces diatribe and thoughtful policy discussions will replace excessive partisanship.

It may be a backlash from the 10 years of negativism in federal politics. In any case it is the genuine expression of the coming generation of politicians. This generation was evident everywhere at the second McMaster conference sponsored by Ontario Young Conservatives in Hamilton last weekend. It was vocal at the annual meeting of Young Liberals in Ottawa a few weeks before.

DEEP CONCERN

The young men and women at these conferences were completely fed up with present politics and politicians. They were deeply concerned about the problems facing the nation — and they had ideas about how to solve these problems.

A great many of these ideas were expressed and tested at the McMaster conference. They called it a thinkers conference — and it was.

For three days these Conservatives, ranging in age from 17 to 35, were bombarded with ideas, many of which assaulted their values and traditions.

OPEN MINDS

They displayed an open mindedness quite uncharacteristic of Tory conferences in the past.

They even permitted criticism of the role of the Queen in Canada — something that until the weekend was only done at Liberal and New Democratic ginger groups.

The discussion of the Queen arose during a panel debating under the title Canada's Future — Nonsense or Nation.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

NOTICE is hereby given that creditors and others having claims against the Estate of MALCOLM MCNICOL, deceased, late of the Municipality of Oak Bay, in the Province of British Columbia, are hereby required to send them to the undersigned Executor at 1235 Government Street, Victoria, B.C. on or before the 18th day of June, A.D. 1966, after which date the Executor will distribute the said Estate among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they then have notice.

DATED at Victoria, B.C. this 18th day of May, A.D. 1966.

Prof. John Conway, of York University, one of the many intellectuals contributing to the conference, said Canada is psychologically still a colony.

He argued strongly that the nation must break the shackles with U.S. and Great Britain and assume its legitimate role as a spokesman for the new world.

He said that from 1867 until 1939, Canada did not produce its own elite — rather it accepted the elite of Great Britain. Now it is in danger of accepting another elite trained in New York and Washington.

JUST SHIFTING

"We are shifting from one kind of psychological colonial status to another," he said. He wanted Canadians to create a new constitution "which says what we believe is the nature and destiny of man as a political animal."

Then he questioned the contribution of the monarchy to the Canadian system, maintaining it was De Jure, not De Facto.

Without arguing the value of the monarchy in Great Britain, he said it was difficult to build a case for its continued existence in present form in Canada.

BOTH AGREE

Times Creery, Southam Newspapers' Quebec correspondent, agreed with him. Surprisingly so did a third panelist who is an admittedly enthusiastic Conservative.

Henry Best, executive assistant to the president of York University, said he was prepared to consider the election of a president or the establishment of a home based monarchy.

There was not a ripple of protest from the audience which packed the room. After the meeting several Young Conservatives admitted they would like to see the monarchy re-examined.

OTHER CHALLENGES

There were several other panels at which outside experts challenged accepted Conservative views. Several speakers confronted outright the organization, policy and leadership of the federal party.

Most of these assaults went unchallenged by the young PCs or for that matter, the federal members of parliament who listened in the audience.

It was obvious to all observers and participants in the conference that the leadership question in the party dominated the three days.

ONE DESIRE

The YPCs seldom discussed it from the floor during the panels. But every bull session or party was consumed with their desire to rid the party of leader John Diefenbaker.

It seemed that almost every time three or more gathered together there was a debate on who should replace the chief.

The Young Conservatives of Ontario do not write off George Hees as a leadership contestant. Even before he spoke, several said they didn't think the Munsinger affair had hurt him badly in their ridings.

They packed a room to hear him speak on a panel discussion Nationalism vs. Continentalism. They applauded him vigorously at start and finish.

During his speech a crowd stood at the back while seats went unoccupied at the front. He stopped talking, flashed the famous smile and said:

"Come on up you girls, I like to see you girls up front."

SELLS IDEAS

He sat up until 5 a.m. Sunday with a large group of eager listeners, digesting his policy ideas. Mr. Hamilton not only sold his ideas, but he stressed practicality of using more positive policies in election campaigns.

And, in his typical pipe puffing fashion, he fascinated his audience with political anecdotes such as how hard the party is trying to find the man who leaked the caucus fight over the firing of organizer Flora MacDonald.

Most of the audience seemed to agree with Prof. George Grant as he pounded away at his theme that Canada must be economically independent of the United States if it is to stay politically independent.

However, a good deal of the support seemed to melt away as Mr. Hees and two other business experts strummed the tune of continentalism in the panel that followed.

Non-Union Labor Draws Another Protest

A second protest against the use of non-union labor in the renewal of Royal Athletic Park contract was received Wednesday at City Hall.

Business agent for Local 324 of the United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry, T. C. Wheatley, said that Victoria Lawn Sprinklers, a division of Phil Ballam Plumbing and Heating, was using non-union labor in carrying out a sub-contract for Farmer Construction, the company which has the general contract on the $600,000 city job.

COULD BE COSTLY

The use of unskilled labor in the installation of the sprinkler system in the park could be costly to the city, Mr. Wheatley said. If repairs were made necessary through faulty installation.

In his own defence, Mr. Ballam, in a letter to the secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, said the work his firm was doing was semi-skilled and did not require licensed plumbers or pipefitters. "I employ college students in this work mostly, and this gives them employment at a time when they are available," Mr. Ballam said, adding that they were able to do the work with very little instruction.

He maintained further that such a practice was of benefit to the community and not detrimental to the interests of organized labor.

COUNCIL WRITES

Earlier, the Vancouver Island Building and Construction Trades Council wrote to George Farmer of Farmer Construction, stating that the plumbing union was firm in its demand that union labor be used on the job.

The union has approached Mr. Ballam about signing an agreement with the union, the letter stated, and Mr. Ballam refused. Both Mr. Farmer and Mr. Ballam have declared that the whole matter is a jurisdictional dispute.

Foamtread by Kaufman

Foamtreads are styled for fashion and built for comfort. The soft foam cushioning and trim wedge heel make them as easy on the foot as they are on the eye. And you'll appreciate the non-marking leather outsole. Foamtreads do cost a little more than other summer shoes, but they last longer, have the exclusive heel counter that won't crush, wash as easily as a linen dish towel on Monday morning, and come in a happy combination of fashion and comfort. Show us another summer shoe that does all that, and we'll show you next year's Foamtread.

Guard Shunned Victim's Shouts

WINNIPEG (CP) — Two men, answering an abduction victim's dare with drunken bravado, drove him to the gates of Stony Mountain Penitentiary north of here and let him call out for help.

The guard ordered the car away, thinking it was all a stupid prank.

Subsequently, the abducted man, Winnipeg musician Bob Jackson, 33, was beaten and robbed. A woman was raped while she was held captive in her farmhouse with Jackson and her three children.

Rape and theft charges have been laid against Jules Gillis Chippeway, 22, and a warrant is out for the arrest of William Joseph Dale, 26, who is still being sought.

The nightmare events happened last Saturday. The details were made public Wednesday by RCMP and victim Jackson. Jackson was parked on a street in north-end Winnipeg after a late-night playing engagement—it was about 6 a.m.—when two men suddenly forced their way into his car.

Jackson was pushed into the back seat and driven to the Stonewall area, 20 miles northwest of here.

The musician did not protest—but he dared the two men to go to the penitentiary which is in the immediate area.

The abductors—who, Jackson said, appeared to have been drinking heavily—went along with the dare and drove up to the Stony Mountain gates.

As a guard approached the car, Jackson shouted that he was being kidnapped.

An RCMP spokesman said Wednesday that the guard told the three men to leave "and later chased them away."

On past experience, the guard's action was understandable, he said, because the penitentiary is approached often by nuisances or cranks.

From the penitentiary, the men drove along side roads until reaching a farmhouse seven miles southwest of Stonewall.

A woman was alone in the house with her three children. Her husband had left a little earlier.

The two men took Jackson into the house where they ripped the phone from the wall, tied up Jackson and the entire family and raped the woman. Then the men fled.

Jackson finally managed to work his hands free and ran to a neighboring farm where he phoned RCMP.

The woman was taken to hospital suffering from shock and bruises. She was released the following day.

La Scala Not Linked with Canada

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — The manager of the world famous La Scala Opera Company says the group is not connected in any way with coming opera performances in Canada.

Quebec Strike

Dock Pact Demanded

MONTREAL (CP) — The International Longshoremen's Association (ILA) said Wednesday the 4,250 of its members on strike in Montreal, Quebec City and Trois-Rivières will not resume work until a new contract is signed.

An association spokesman made the statement following the start of mediation efforts in the walkout, which has virtually paralyzed the three St. Lawrence River ports for nine days.

Judge Rene Lippe of Montreal's district magistrate court was appointed by the federal government to mediate, after both the union and the Shipping Federation of Canada, representing management, asked for government intervention.

Some 130 vessels have been left idle by the strike.

The men walked off their jobs in Quebec City, Trois-Rivières and Montreal, protesting first about overpaying problems. However, an ILA spokesman said the contract dispute is the major factor in the walkout.

The men are demanding salary increases, shorter hours and other improvements in working conditions. The federation is demanding that the size of work gangs be reduced but the union has protested such a move.

About 3,500 men are involved in Montreal, 500 in Quebec City and 250 in Trois-Rivières. More than 100 ships have been idled in the three ports.

Pump's Job Ends

HOUSTON (UPI) — A team of surgeons Wednesday night removed a revolutionary artificial heart pump from the chest of Walter L. McCans and said they were convinced the patient's heart healed enough to take over normal functions.

The heart pump, designed and implanted by famed heart surgeon Michael E. DeBakey, thus accomplished for the first time the job for which it was created.

The heart pump was removed during an hour and 15 minute operation to find the source of a lung difficulty developed by McCans, a 61-year-old retired navy man from Woodville, Wash.

FLUIDS

Fluids had begun to accumulate in McCans' lungs since the artificial heart was implanted in his chest Tuesday afternoon.

During the operation, surgeons discovered that in the comparatively short time in which the pump had been functioning inside McCans' body, his own heart had repaired itself enough to resume the full work load of pumping blood through the body.

In McCans' case, the left ventricle of the heart was failing to do its pumping job. The heart pump was used as a "last resort," said a hospital spokesman.

NO FAILURE

After the removal of the artificial heart pump Wednesday, a hospital bulletin said that McCans had shown no signs of heart failure.

"All vital signs are stable," the bulletin said.

The bulletin also said the fluids in McCans' lungs had been removed, and the lungs' functions had improved.

It was the second test for DeBakey's heart pump, but it was the first time the pump was able to finish its job.

MANY STROKES

A heart pump was implanted in the chest of Marcel Derudder, an Illinois coal miner, last month. The pump worked perfectly but Derudder died 111 hours later of a collapsed lung.

Derudder died before his heart had a chance to repair itself from the severe damage caused by numerous strokes.

Painters' Officer Found Shot

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Sheriff's deputies said the administrator of the Sacramento Painters Union welfare fund was found shot to death Tuesday night in his office.

Sture Youngren apparently shot himself in the head with a .45-calibre automatic, an officer said.

Two employer trustees of the Sacramento Painters' Local 478's welfare and pension fund were among five men indicted by a San Francisco grand jury Monday night in the shotgun slaying of Dow Wilson, leader of the union's San Francisco local.

QUESTIONED

Wilson was shot down in San Francisco April 7. Lloyd Green, 45, painters union local financial secretary in Hayward, was killed by a shotgun blast in a union office May 7.

The two employer trustees indicted were Max Ward, 47, of Carmichael and Norman Call, 46, of Sacramento.

Wilson and Green, the shotgun assassination victims, both had questioned the handling of Painters' Union Local 478's welfare fund.

U.K. Prices Rise Again

LONDON (AP)—The index of British retail prices rose last month to 116, an increase of 1.4 points over March, the labor ministry reported. The base figure of 100 was set in January, 1962, so the figure indicates a 16 per cent rise in retail prices since that time. Last month's increase was the second largest in the last four years.

Lime is best added after digging and before raking. Preferred time is after the fall digging, and at a rate of two cupsful per square yard, but if the beds were not limed last fall, give half this dosage now. A little complete fertilizer—a kind recommended for flowers and vegetables, NOT a lawn fertilizer—can be added at the same time. Rake and tread the bed several times to get it level and firm, then go ahead and set out your summer-blooming annuals.

Ottawa Company On Stage Tonight

Technicians Rule Lakeside

An astonishing success record has been chalked up by Lakeside Theatre Productions, formed just two years ago.

In the first year the Ottawa company won the DDF zone region with Behan's The Hostage, and performed in the play in the Canadian final at Brockville.

TWO IN ROW
In the second year, they won their zone again, and tonight they will go on the McPherson stage with The Glass Menagerie, by Tennessee Williams.

The group was so sure of success for the second straight year, that Glass Menagerie was deliberately chosen to suit the requirements of the trip to Victoria.

DIFFERENT PLAY
John Van Noort, sound man for the company, explained the unusual structure of Lakeside Theatre Productions.

"We are trying something different," he said. "Most groups are really actors' clubs. This is the opposite." He said the production company was founded by backstage personnel, and the emphasis is on the technical crew.

ACTORS FLOW
The production group is the core of Lakeside, and the actors flow in and out of the productions.

The company is sponsored by the Department of Recreation and Parks, Ottawa city.

BEST ACTRESS

Last year in the final at Brockville the group got a major award, when Elsa Pickthorn won best actress.

In the regional festival this year, Glass Menagerie won nine out of 11 awards, including best direction, best overall presentation, best visual production, best costume, best set.

Joe O'Brien, who plays Tom, was best actor, and Pat Goodline, who portrays Amanda, was best actress.

BIG DRIVE
It took a major money-raising campaign to get the Ottawa group to Victoria.

They set out to raise $4,000, and did it in three weeks.

PRIME MINISTER
Highlight of the drive was a gala night, with top officials like Ottawa Mayor Don Reid and Prime Minister Pearson as guests at Glass Menagerie.

To lighten the load of shipping charges, the group plans to leave sets in Victoria.

"We'll probably donate them to somebody," said Mr. Van Noort, "but I don't know just who."

IMPRESSED
He said the group is impressed by Victoria and by McPherson Playhouse. But this morning will be his first look backstage.

'Dead' Baboon Living Well
MOSCOW (Reuters) — A baboon restored to life by Soviet scientists after she had been clinically dead for 140 minutes now has survived five years since the operation and had four babies, says Tass news agency. The animal, called Sargenta, was cooled and drained of blood in 1961 at an institute at Sukhumi on the Black Sea where scientists are working on how to extend life, the story said.

You Can't Get There From Here

Most members of production teams in Victoria for the Dominion Drama Festival appear satisfied with arrangements made by the organizers.

They feel the local committee has made few mistakes. But, all are wondering why, in a festival designed to improve theatre and enlighten actors, they were given seats so far back in the balcony they can see nothing and hear seldom.

One director said "Saturday night when they announce the winners it will take an hour for an actor to get down to the stage for his award. That is, if we hear the names called at all."

A journey into the world of crime and perversion, with a poet for a guide, awaited theatre-goers at McPherson Playhouse Wednesday.

Le Mouvement Contemporain from Montreal presented Jean Genet's Les Bonnes (The Maids).

The play concerns two maids, playing a deadly game of master and servant in a world of phantasy.

Smashing this unreality is the appearance of madame.

The servants decide to kill their mistress. But at the vital moment they are unable to make the step from phantasy to reality, and madame goes free.

The servants then fulfill the phantasy with suicide.

The adjudicator said director Andre Brassard got his cast to give a brave, bold performance of lesbian love.

He said Rita Lafontaine as Claire was most convincing of the maids. "She was able to give the impression of a marionette as suggested by the author. Yet she also showed development. She showed the transition from the real to the fantastic.

Marius Goring said Frederique Collin as Solange didn't give the same quality of He said Christine Chassay as Madame followed the author too closely, and was not sufficiently involved in her role.

Discussing the idea of crime in the play, Mr. Goring referred to the murder on the moors case recently concluded in England.

He quoted the judge, who said many people imagine fantastic things, but just because they enter the mind, they are not carried out.

Mr. Goring said it was this translation from fantasy to reality that concerned Genet in The Maids.

The adjudicator said Genet doesn't like the theatre, acting or actors. "He believes actors are always trying for effect. He would prefer marionettes."

Mr. Goring said Genet wants theatre to be a kind of communal experience, like the religious mass. But the author believes he will find this kind of theatre only in the shadows of night, in caverns.

Goring

What Was That Again?

Herodotus says all men are liars. Herodotus is a man. Therefore Herodotus must be a liar. But if he is a liar, then his statement about men being liars must be false. So men must tell the truth. But Herodotus has then told a lie, and he is a man. So all men must be liars. But...

And on and on goes the men-are-liars cycle. It is exactly this kind of paradox that French philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre has used to describe the cycle of thinking in Jean Genet's The Maids.

But much of this paradox was lost in the McPherson Playhouse production Wednesday, because of casting. Instead of two teenage boys playing the main roles, the parts were played by actresses.

The paradox of the play is in the circumstance of boys, trying to play girls, who are in turn trying to play boys. If you are confused, learn French.

Parliament Washroom Blast Scene

OTTAWA (CP) — A man who apparently smuggled a bomb into the Centre Block of Parliament Hill Wednesday was killed when an explosion ripped through a washroom near the offices of Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

He was identified as Paul Joseph Chatterton, about 45, of Toronto after eight hours of intensive investigation by RCMP and other police.

Speculation was the washroom explosion was premature and the intent was that the device be set off inside the Commons chamber or in its galleries.

Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux and Solicitor-General Pennell held a joint press conference Wednesday night to give details and identify the victim.

Mr. Lamoureux said the victim was from Toronto, that police there had investigated his residence and found sticks of dynamite and three home-made bombs, and that the man had a history of psychiatric treatment in a Toronto hospital.

NO OTHERS

Mr. Pennell said information "strongly indicates no other person was involved." There was evidence the man was emotionally unstable.

Mr. Pennell said this was based on "written material" that indicated "he felt perhaps the world hasn't done right by him and there were injustices to correct."

'A Blast To Wake You Up'

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan police said Wednesday night they found in Paul Chatterton's rooming house here a notebook containing the sentence: "Might as well give you a blast to wake you up."

Chatterton was identified in Ottawa Wednesday night by Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux as the victim of an explosion earlier Wednesday that ripped through a washroom in the Parliament buildings.

Police said they also found in Chatterton's room here six sticks of dynamite and two crude home-made bombs. Douglas Lucas of the attorney-general's department, which received the explosives for examination and disposal, said the bombs were dangerous to use in that it would be difficult to determine how much time would elapse before they might explode.

Police said they also found in Chatterton's room here six sticks of dynamite and two crude home-made bombs. Douglas Lucas of the attorney-general's department, which received the explosives for examination and disposal, said the bombs were dangerous to use in that it would be difficult to determine how much time would elapse before they might explode.

Landlady Joan Lapalme said Chatterton left her rooming house between 10 and 11 a.m. Wednesday without saying where he was going.

Mrs. Lapalme said Chatterton moved into her house about five weeks ago and he'd recently been in the United States.

BODY REMOVED

Some 90 minutes after the explosion, the body of the victim was taken away on a stretcher covered by a rubber sheet.

The blast came about 11:50 a.m. PDT, minutes after the Commons had settled quietly into its routine procedure for a Wednesday. The echoing explosion stunned MPs and the crowds jammed into the public galleries—mostly visiting school children and their teachers.

Mr. Pearson and Mr. Martin were in their seats.

RAN TO SCENE

Reporters in the press gallery at the north end of the Commons chamber scrambled toward the blast site, at the south end of the building.

The found the corridors filled with smoke when they arrived at the washroom.

The washroom is tucked into a corner off a U-shaped corridor that forms a balcony overlooking the main entrance to the Commons chamber, one floor below.

MARBLE CHUNKS

The washroom is on one side of the U. Mr. Martin's office is next to it, along the base of the U and Mr. Pearson's office is next to Mr. Martin's.

BOMBS FOUND IN VICTIM'S HOUSE

Broken body of bomber carried from Parliament

'Don't Be Silly,' Said Chatterton

Security Guard Thought It Was a Firecracker

By BOB PETHICK

Plaster dust was still sifting from the ceiling of the bombed House of Commons washroom when Esquimalt-Saanich MP George Chatterton arrived on the scene.

"It was a terrific blast," Mr. Chatterton said Wednesday. "When I got there, smoke was pouring out of the washroom door."

Two or three others arrived on the scene a few seconds before Mr. Chatterton. One was a security guard.

"I asked him what it was. He said he thought it was a firecracker. I said, 'don't be silly.'"

He said Dr. Hugh Horner

(PC, Jasper-Edson) arrived on the scene and went inside, and came out a few minutes later and said the man had been killed. The doctor speculated the man had been carrying the bomb in his hand or in his right pocket.

"They cleared the House, and at 4 p.m. when the bells rang (to summon the House) I expected the Speaker to make a statement." There was no statement.

He said the public gallery was empty. Guards were looking under everything.

When the explosion went off, he said, he immediately thought of last year's "blood-bucket incident," when a protester hurled a container of cow's blood on the floor of the House in protest.

When things settled down after the blast, Mr. Chatterton started for his office. A fellow member, whom he would not name, clutched his arm.

"You're not going in there are you?" he asked. "Stay outside."

Mr. Chatterton waited 20 minutes before phoning his Ottawa home to ask his wife if she had heard the news. She hadn't.

New General Defies Pagoda-Attack Order

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (Reuters)—Shooting broke out in the streets today between rebel soldiers and troops loyal to the Saigon government.

Sources said government troops were ordered to attack two pagodas held by Buddhist-backed dissident troops.

There were no reports of casualties. Government troops at one point hit a rebel jeep with a shell from a recoilless rifle as it was crossing one of the streets.

An unconfirmed report said Maj.-Gen. Huynh Van Cao, formally installed Wednesday as the Saigon regime's new commander for South Viet Nam's five northern provinces, sought safety with the United States marine commander after refusing to attack the pagodas.

Forces Held To Quarters

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI)—Provisional President Hector Garcia—Godoy Wednesday night ordered all members of the Dominican armed forces confined to quarters until after presidential elections scheduled for June 1.

Greek Ship Abandoned In Atlantic

HALIFAX (CP) — The 27-member crew of the sinking Greek freighter Aurora abandoned ship about 160 miles east of St. John's, Nfld., Wednesday night.

The Air-Sea Rescue Centre here said 14 members, including the skipper, were taken aboard the vessel Sicilia and 13 aboard the Overseas Courier.

The Sicilia was to continue to New York and the Overseas Courier, originally headed to Seven Islands, Que., was believed heading for St. John's.

The 7,195-ton Aurora, bound from Piraeus, Greece, to Montreal, was taking water rapidly in heavy seas, the centre said.

Angry Diefenbaker Pulls Out of Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker imposed a Conservative boycott on the Munsinger security inquiry Wednesday as the royal commission heard its last witness.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, the commissioner, announced that final argument will begin today at 10:30 a.m.

Neither Justice Minister Carlin, whose charges led to the inquiry, nor Mr. Diefenbaker, accused by Mr. Carlin of "misleading the Munsinger case when he was prime minister," appeared before the commission.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced he had instructed the lawyers representing him and former Conservative justice minister Devie Fulton to quit the inquiry. They did and, consequently, will not present final argument.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused Mr. Justice Spence of making public last week "a sordid, libelous document" and "a McCarthy smear."

DESTROY REPUTATION

The document was intended to destroy his reputation and many points in it were contradicted by the evidence, he said. Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a document prepared by Commission Counsel J. L. O'Brien and J. J. Urie. It was a summary of police reports about Gerda Munsinger and her relationship with Pierre Sevigny, former Conservative associate defence minister, and others. The judge said the document was not evidence.

Mr. Diefenbaker said at a press conference that Mr.

O'Brien boasted publicly in Montreal of "what he was going to do with a former prime minister" and had stated "over and over again that he was going to get even."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. O'Brien had been counsel for the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada when the Conservative cabinet objected to an application for a phone rate increase.

NOT INTERESTED

Mr. O'Brien told reporters before the afternoon session of the inquiry began: "I have never said it and I have no reason to get him. Apart from that, I'm not very interested."

Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton attacked the conduct of the inquiry in a 15-minute press conference.

ASSASSINATION

Mr. Diefenbaker said a succession of events at the inquiry indicated that "the purpose for which the commission was established was the political assassination of opponents."

He assailed secret sessions held without notice, lack of access to secret exhibits before the inquiry, questioning based on secret RCMP files and publication of a summary of the files, without admitting it as evidence.

He criticized Mr. O'Brien for drafting the summary and Mr. Justice Spence for accepting Mr. O'Brien's suggestion to make the summary public, without producing it as evidence.

The summary was "a self-selected tissue of slanders" based on hearsay and contradicted often by sworn evidence.

RESPECTS JUDICIARY

He had deep respect for the judiciary, but had never seen anything to approach the attitude of the commission, the Opposition leader said.

Cool Haul, Chilly Victims

Bandits Strip, Rob 75

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bandits invaded a private club Wednesday, forced about 75 men and women to strip, robbed them of about $10,000 in jewelry and money and held them captives in the nude for nearly eight hours.

Police said one white girl in the predominantly Negro crowd in the West Side Social Club was raped by one of four or five Negro bandits. She was not identified.

About 15 of the victims were women. The men and women were forced to lie nude on the floor during the entire ordeal until the bandits decided to leave.

The robbers were severe. There was a lot of blood, a lot of the victims got hit on the head," police said.

"They were mean, the big guy was the toughest one. He was watching people. If they made any movement, he would kick them in the head," detectives said.

"The robbers came in at 8 a.m. after the manager opened the club and held him up," police said. "As customers came in one or two at a time, they would be robbed and stripped coming in the door."

"This went on from 8 to 3:30, when the bandits got about all they could get and left."

Department of Industry:

OTTAWA (Special) — The new Industry Department.

"A $50,000,000 administrative convenience for Prime Minister Pearson in putting Industry Minister Drury into the cabinet business," says Alfred D. Hales, MP for Wellington South and Conservative critic of this particular department.

"Essential for the attainment of a generally vigorous economy," says Mr. Drury and his department. So is there a neutral, between-extremes assessment?

Well, how about David A. Golden who, going on two years ago, resigned as deputy minister of both the industry and the defence production departments to take the presidency of the Air Industries Association of Canada?

He was the senior civil service obstetrician who delivered the infant department, and then left it for what he said was a more challenging practice in private enterprise.

"The department of industry — a good concept — may take a bit of time — but it's sure to turn out to be useful," he says after watching its development over the last two years and 10 months.

Now the degree of excellence of any departmental function and performance is a matter of opinion.

And here Mr. Drury, Mr. Golden and Mr. Hales again differ. "An extravagant, inefficient and unnecessary duplication," says Mr. Hales.

"From the outside it seems to be coming along nicely as an instrument of commercial and industrial development," says Mr. Golden.

"We're doing our best possible to assist the business community in obtaining more complete information about changing economic conditions and opportunities to permit development of effective programs and measures for industrial expansion," says Mr. Drury and his department.

Opinion, all of it — expert and authoritative — but still just opinion.

Boon or Boondoggle?

Where you can get out of the controversial element of opinion and into the less argumentative field of facts and figures is to examine how the department gears up in manpower for whatever kind of a job it may be doing.

To begin with, Mr. Hales contends that the industry department's hired hands are over-priced, mainly because the new department bought them at premium rates from other federal agencies.

And the gossip has had wide circulation around the capital that industry somehow managed to transform the Civil Service Commission into something approaching a manpower auction.

The new department, so still goes the scuttlebutt, wanted a particular man, say an expert in textiles, in, say trade and commerce.

So they looked him up in the salary lists of the estimates and public accounts, and if trade and commerce was paying $16,000, they advertised the job at $18,000.

And they hand-tailored the particular requirements of the

NATO, Warsaw Pact 'Should Be Junked'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union Wednesday said both the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and its Communist counterpart, the Warsaw Pact, should be junked.

In a diplomatic reply to a West German message, the Russians also called for a broad treaty arrangement to restrict nuclear proliferation and said it would support admission of both West and East Germany to the United Nations.

The Soviets renewed their call for a conference of European nations — but not the United States — to tackle the problem of divided Germany.

REPLY TO BONN

The Russian message, responding to a note distributed by West Germany March 25, said the USSR "stands for the accomplishment of a German peace settlement" and said that "in case of an appropriate application" by the federal republic of (West) Germany to the United Nations, the Soviet Union will advocate the admission of both German states.

Also proposed in the lengthy note were:

- The withdrawal of all nuclear weapons stations outside national territory.

- The immediate conclusion of a treaty to stop the spread of nuclear arms which would also prohibit use of nuclear weapons against nations which do not have them.

- Renunciation of the use of nuclear weapons by both Germany and the establishment of a nuclear-free zone in Central Europe.

- Strengthening the United Nations peace-keeping powers.

Russians Face Dilemma

Romania Asks N-Voice

LONDON (UPI) — Romania, a tightening of Communist defense arrangements, was reported Wednesday bargaining for a veto on the placing and use of Russian nuclear weapons. A Warsaw Pact summit meeting was called for early July, with Russia said to be urging Continuing reports, all without official confirmation, have Romania holding out against the Soviets for a considerable degree of political and military independence, as well as economic independence. The firm stand is perhaps what led to Soviet Communist Party chief Leonid Brezhnev's sudden trip to Bucharest last week.

The Times of London quoted a Romanian source as saying Bucharest is opposed to letting itself be used by the Soviets as a missile base from which nuclear weapons could be fired without Romania being consulted.

Fulford Crowns Queen

FULFORD — May Queen Catherine Ackerman will reign over holiday festivities here aided by her princesses Patricia and Donna Cawker.

Retiring May Queen Darlene MacGill will crown the new queen in a ceremony at Shaw's field here.

Friday evening the Queen's Ball will be opened by Miss Ackerman.

On May Day the contestants for the parade will line up at the foot of Isabella Point Road and Faw's Place at 1 p.m. Parade starts at 1:30 and parade master will be Norman Shaw.

Up in Shaw's field the children will line up outside the stalls on the field at 3 p.m. sharp and join the big parade when it arrives for a turn around the field.

The Queen's Float will lead the parade. Refreshments, sports and teas in the Fulford Hall and square dancing, etc., on the field.

NANAIMO — Four British Columbia real estate boards received awards from the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards. The awards were presented at a luncheon during the annual convention of the Real Estate Institute of B.C. at Nanaimo, attended by close to 500 delegates.

Merit awards, the top award in the O.S.C.A.R. program conducted by the Canadian Association, went to Victoria, Vancouver, Okanagan-Mainline and Westminister County real estate boards. The awards are in recognition of outstanding service to the community and to the members of the boards.

It was the third consecutive year Vancouver and Okanagan-Mainline have received the top awards and the second time for Victoria.

FULFORD — Held in high esteem by his people in the scattered flock of Roman Catholics on Salt Spring Island, Rev. Father William Mudge was given a farewell supper and sent off by 150 men, women and children in a large "family banquet" held in the Fulford Hall.

Representatives from other denominations were present to pay their respects and wish the priest God speed to his new post in Saanich. Ven. Archdeacon Ray Horsfield and Mrs. Horsfield were guests of honor at the head table, representing the Anglican Church, and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. House, the United Church, Mr. Arthur Milner, the Anglican Church Warden and others.

Archdeacon Horsfield expressed regret in losing Father Mudge: "We had got to know him rather well in our memorable Lenten services in the past weeks as we all worked together," he said. "I have come under his smile and shall miss Father Mudge—we will all miss him," and the Archdeacon wished the Priest all the best and "blessings in his promotion."

NANAIMO — Widening of the grounds for divorce in Canada to include insanity, cruelty and desertion was just one of the resolutions of the Nanaimo Council of Women will back at a national convention in June. If this resolution receives the backing of the convention the federal government will be asked to amend the Matrimonial Causes Act.

The Nanaimo Council, made up of 28 affiliated women's groups, also sanctioned a resolution to allow prospective citizens to take a form of affirmation as an alternative to the oath of allegiance.

A resolution calling for implementation of the Bladen Report on financing higher education was also passed.

A second resolution wanting the same financial support from the government for junior colleges administered by local boards as universities was also passed.

Couple for Status Quo

Dust Penetrates Chambers But Council Still in Fog

DUNCAN — Dust flew right into the council chamber Wednesday afternoon from the Aukichie Road extension where truck traffic might whirl it into the house of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Wright.

The short extension lined with old chestnut trees is being used occasionally by wood and sawdust trucks as a shortcut to a sawmill in that area and the couple is "strongly against the plan of using the lane next to our home as a road for logging, lumber, gravel and other trucks."

FOR STATUS QUO

They stated the status quo of the lane should be retained because of its aesthetic value.

Classed as public road, "the municipality did not build it nor have they spent a nickel on its maintenance," said the Wrights.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright complained if the trucks were given the free use of the lane "it is a horrifying thought that on a hot summer evening we would have to sit with all doors and windows closed until 10:30 p.m. because of the dust and noise."

'PUBLIC ROAD'

Reeve Morton said, "It is in fact a public road."

"It is narrow but it could be improved."

"I am sympathetic with these people but legally I am not convinced when we stand denying anyone the use of the road."

AGAINST CHANGE

Coun. John Cannon said the problem is these people don't want any change. Coun. Whitaker said if the road was widened the trees would have to be taken down on one side.

He said if the lane was made a proper public road it could be used by heavy vehicles.

The matter will be investigated on the spot by members of the public works committee which will produce a recommendation at the next Council meeting, June 1, at Chemainus.

Mrs. Juanita Birch-Jones was advised by council there is no intention to complete the extension of Henderson Road to the Quamichan Lake at this time.

Mrs. Birch-Jones stated it would be the municipality's responsibility to open and complete Henderson Road to provide proper access to the lake.

She said her late Col. Dopping, Hepenstall for 43 years had provided access to the lake and "council should relieve me of this responsibility."

MAKE FOOTPATH

Council noted a similar request to open Henderson Road had been received some time ago and footpath was provided for the public to the lakeshore.

Coun. Whitaker remarked to complete the road to the lake would cost between $5,000 and $6,000.

It was noted a proper access to the same lake exists at its other end from Indian Road where Duncan Kinsmen are developing a public park.

Another taxpayer, Mrs. Valerie Blasco, will be advised council has no objection to a foreshore lease application by Maybay Pacific Ltd. which wants to establish a marina in the Bird's Eye Cove area and plans to provide wharfage for small boats.

BATTLE ROYAL

Council will explain to Mrs. Blasco it has been fully aware of the requested foreshore lease.

The property on Genoa Bay Road was rezoned so it can be used as a marina.

More than seven months ago a battle royal developed when the Maybay Pacific Ltd. made public its intention for the first time.

The board is currently considering the application to establish a college in the upper Island area.

City council will receive a letter from the school board suggesting council should look into the state of sidewalks near schools.

Traffic and safety chairman Mrs. Doris Menard said the situation is especially hazardous on Estevan Road.

TO DOH

A similar letter will also go to the department of highways drawing its attention to the situation at East Wellington.

Eleven teachers at Harewood Elementary School petitioned the board to name a new elementary school on Howard Avenue the Ada Jones School.

The teachers pointed out Miss Jones is a pioneer Harewood resident and has taught in the district for more than 20 years.

The request was referred to the board chairman for recommendation.

'Bully-Boy Tactics' Charged at Campbell River

Brotherhood Denies Rival Union Gains

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—A tough jurisdictional dispute was shaping up here Wednesday with a new Canadian union claiming to have signed up most of the workers at a large pulp mill.

"The claim was strongly denied by the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Workers Union (CLC), which now has a contract representing about 750 workers of the Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd. pulp mill here.

Bill Iverson, president of the Sulphite Workers Local 742, charged the new union with "bully-boy tactics" and said his union is preparing to "fight the disruption which only benefits the employers."

The Canadian Pulp and Sulphite Workers Union (Intl.), which signed most of the workers at the Nanaimo-area mill of MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. last week, said a meeting Tuesday night voted to break away from the Sulphite Workers and form a new local.

Bill Cox of Duncan said he was named temporary head of the new group, to be known as Local 7. He said the majority of the 750 workers involved have signed up with the Canadian union. Another 250 workers are represented by a third union.

The Canadian union now claims to have signed Sulphite Workers members at Crofton, Woodfibre near Vancouver, Castlegar in the Kootenays and Prince Rupert as well as Nanaimo and Campbell River. Mr. Iverson said in a statement only 15 persons attended Tuesday night's meeting here and many of them were loyal supporters of his union.

"After the bully-boy tactics at Nanaimo several of our members received threatening phone calls and one member had rocks thrown through his window," claimed Mr. Iverson.

"While our delegates in Vancouver are fighting for a good settlement for the membership we are being harassed and raided by people who claim to believe in labor unity. There will be no surrender on the part of Local 742 to those who would wreck the house of labor."

Club Shows New Suits

DUNCAN — This Saturday, for the first time, members of the Cowichan Valley Athletic Club will compete in their new gold and black track suits at the Legion-sponsored branch meet at Duncan.

The young athletes will be sponsored by Legion units at Duncan, Cobble Hill and Shawnigan Lake.

Winners will take part in the Legion zone meet, also at Duncan, June 11.

The area finals will be held at Nanaimo, June 30.

Sea Debris Control Requested

By PETER TAYLOR

NANAIMO—A brief asking for control of sea debris will be presented to the provincial legislature's standing committee on forestry in the near future.

John Dunham, head of the Nanaimo Chamber of Commerce harbor committee, said Wednesday afternoon the brief had been prepared by harbor committees and other interested committees along the west coast of B.C.

The brief will ask for control of the debris at its source. Mr. Dunham said much of the debris along the coast is logs, but it also included old vessels and shacks.

"Luckily in Nanaimo we do not have too much of a problem, but nevertheless some debris does come into the harbor."

"In 1964 New York spent a half million dollars on this operation, and they have done this for the last five years."

"Now they don't on Long Island or on the Hudson River, but this gives you some idea of what's going on on the West Coast," Mr. Dunham said.

His committee recommended encouragement of the use of Nanaimo as a port for inbound cargo.

Mr. Dunham, who is also harbor master, said Nanaimo is mainly an export port, but there are facilities here for inbound cargo, including a sufferance warehouse at the assembly wharf.

He maintained Victoria has been on the decline for the past few years as a port for inbound cargo.

"If there is a sufficient cargo for the island then there is no reason why it couldn't come off at Nanaimo," he said.

In his report to the chamber, Mr. Dunham added that his committee has been working with the advisory planning commission and the Nanaimo Harbor Board on zoning along the waterfront from Brechin Point to the Nanaimo Yacht Club.

He said the groups are trying to work towards a specific use of this part of Newcastle Channel.

He praised the yacht club for the expansion of its mooring facilities, because there is a lack of moorage for small boats in Nanaimo harbor.

Duncan Decides

DUNCAN — City council shoes could use this building. Wednesday night, decided to make a $30,000 field house in the Wharfedale area Duncan's centennial project.

Council at the same meeting commissioned Victoria architect Alan Hodgson to prepare working drawings for the project.

FOLLOWS MEETING

The decision was made following a meeting between members of city council and representatives from a number of local organizations.

Bob Robinson, a spokesman for the Cowichan Valley Athletic Club, said "this field house will be a tremendous asset to this area."

The representative of the Duncan Old Age Pensioners, Clarence White, asked if the pensioners who pitch horse-

Surfing Meet To Draw Well

TOFINO — Surfing championships at Vancouver Island's west coast Long Beach are expected to draw large crowds for the weekend.

The Canadian championship meet was arranged by Reef Rovers Club of Victoria. Local and mainland surfers have entered a total of 18 heat events.

Port Alberni Crews Back International

PORT ALBERNI — Pulp mill workers here re-affirmed their faith in the international union by sending a telegram to the president and secretary of the International Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers' Union.

Dan Connell, president of Local 592, said the message was sent following a meeting here Monday.

Arena, Recreation Go to Polls June 18

By KLAUS MUENTER

NORTH COWICHAN — Owner-electors in Chemainus, Westholme and Crofton areas will go to the polls June 18 to vote on a $330,600 expenditure for an ice arena at Fuller's Lake, other recreational facilities and site development there.

Council Wednesday afternoon decided to vote on the respective bylaw after the people have voted.

The vote for the northern part of the municipality on the Fuller's Lake Arena was decided some weeks ago with the provision that the recreational area can be merged with a similar one in the south of North Cowichan.

NO SPLIT

On several occasions it has been stressed this division into recreational areas is not splitting the municipality but will enable the Fuller's Lake Arena to be built as quickly as possible.

In March a $700,000 composite recreation bylaw which included an arena at Fuller's Lake was strongly rejected by residents in the southern portion of the municipality but Crofton and Chemainus ratepayers pressed for another vote on the arena.

At a previous council meeting, George Whittaker expressed concern about the proposed bylaw with the merging clause because he contended this type of bylaw could lead to "whipsawing" and "it would provide no safeguard."

Reeve Donald Morton Wednesday remarked, "since Coun. Whittaker's comment I have given it (the bylaw) very serious consideration."

Council Wednesday afternoon decided to vote on the respective bylaw after the people have voted.

The vote for the northern part of the municipality on the Fuller's Lake Arena was decided some weeks ago with the provision that the recreational area can be merged with a similar one in the south of North Cowichan.

The purchase of about 13 acres of land and the construction of the new hall would cost $275,000.

COMMEND COUNCIL

Letters from Chemainus and Crofton Taxpayers' Association commended council on its choice, but Coun. Whittaker had his doubts.

He said the proposed site will be inconvenient for the majority of the people because most live in the South End and do their business in the Duncan area.

He said, "It is my opinion the site would be closer to the business area and closer to police and fire protection."

He emphasized a adequate water is another important item to be considered and "if I had the choice I would build the municipal hall in the area of the South End fire hall."

Crofton ratepayers described council's location choice as "wise and a step in the right direction."

Nanaimo's $5,000,000 Baby

Building Permit Signals First Construction Phase

NANAIMO — The first building permit was issued at city hall Wednesday afternoon signalling the initial phase of the $5,000,000 CPR shopping centre to be built in downtown Nanaimo.

The permit, totalling $350,000, was issued to Pat Cavanagh, resident construction superintendent for Dominion Construction, the company undertaking the project.

This permit will enable excavation to start on a new Canada Safeway, one of the two major stores which will occupy the complex. The other is Simpsons-Sears.

Completion of the entire project has been set for Feb. 1, 1967, he added.

Mr. Nelson said his company now is planning 30 stores instead of the original 25, and he expects some of these will also be completed by the time the Safeway opens.

PLACE ANCHOR

"CPR in keeping with its trust in Nanaimo feels they are placing the anchor to the downtown shopping area with the erection of Harbour Park Shopping Centre."

He said CPR has received more applications than allocated spaces.

"The question now is to maintain the highest quality in all facets of service."

Approximately 200 delegates from all over the province are expected to register for the four-day convention.

The conference begins with a day and half workshop on guardianship both at the parent and professional level.

Moderator for this workshop will be Barry Swadron, director of a study project on mental health legislation for Ontario.

D. H. Nelson, Victoria, public relations representative for Marathon Realty, a CPR subsidiary, said Nov. 1 is now the date for the opening of the new Safeway.

Completion of the entire project has been set for Feb. 1, 1967, he added.

Mr. Nelson said his company now is planning 30 stores instead of the original 25, and he expects some of these will also be completed by the time the Safeway opens.

CAUSES UPGRADING

Mr. Nelson said consultation with shopping centre experts plus completion of a seminar by Tom McKenna, area manager for Marathon Realty, had caused the upgrading of Harbour Park to a 30-store complex.

There has been no increase in the parking space, which still stands 750 cars.

Error, Alcohol Listed by Jury

NANAIMO—Two possibilities, a driving error and alcohol, may have caused the death of three people in a car crash on May 1, a coroner's jury ruled here Wednesday night.

Killed instantly were George Caplin, 61, and his wife Nora, 57, of Youbou when their car met head on with a car driven by Daniel Carthy, 34, of Nanaimo, seven miles south of here.

Carthy died hours after the accident in hospital.

Commons Chamber His Aim?

BOMBER'S ARSENAL FOUND

View through shattered room divider shows explosion scene

OTTAWA (CP) — A man who apparently smuggled a bomb into the Centre Block of Parliament Hill Wednesday was killed when an explosion ripped through a washroom near the offices of Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin.

He was identified as Paul Joseph Chartier, about 43, of Toronto after eight hours of intensive investigation by RCMP and other police.

Speculation was the washroom explosion was premature and the intent was that the device be set off inside the Commons chamber or in its galleries.

Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux and Solicitor-General Pennell held a joint press conference Wednesday night to give details and identify the victim.

'A Blast To Wake You Up'

TORONTO (CP) — Metropolitan police said Wednesday night they found in Paul Chartier's rooming house here a notebook containing the sentence: "Might as well give you a blast to wake you up."

Chartier was identified in Ottawa Wednesday night by Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux as the victim of an explosion earlier Wednesday that ripped through a washroom in the Parliament buildings.

Police said they also found in Chartier's room here six sticks of dynamite and two crude homemade bombs.

Douglas Lucas of the attorney-general's department, which received the explosives for examination and disposal, said the bombs were dangerous to use in that it would be difficult to determine how much time would elapse before they might explode.

Lamoureux said Chartier left his rooming house between 10 and 11 a.m. Wednesday without saying where he was going.

Mrs. Lamoureux said Chartier moved into his house about five weeks ago and he'd recently been in the United States.

She described him as a nice, quiet man with whom she'd had few conversations.

'Don't Be Silly,' Said Chatterton

Security Guard Thought It Was a Firecracker

By BOB PETHICK

Plaster dust was still settling from the ceiling of the Commons chamber Wednesday when Esquimaux MP George Chatterton arrived on the scene.

"It was a terrific blast," Mr. Chatterton said Wednesday. "When I got there, smoke was pouring out of the washroom door."

Two or three others arrived on the scene a few seconds before Mr. Chatterton. One was a security guard.

"I asked him what it was. He said he thought it was a firecracker. I said, 'don't be silly'."

He said Dr. Hugh Horner

(PC, Jasper-Edson) arrived on the scene and went inside, and came out a few minutes later and said the man had been killed. The doctor speculated the man had been carrying the bomb in his hand or in his right pocket.

"They cleared the House, and at 4 p.m. when the bells rang (to summon the House) I expected the Speaker to make a statement." There was no statement.

He said the public gallery was empty. Guards were looking under everything.

When the explosion went off, he said, he immediately thought of last year's "blood-bucket incident," when a protester hurled a container of cow's blood on the floor of the House in protest.

When things settled down after the blast, Mr. Chatterton started for his office. A fellow member, whom he would not name, clutched his arm.

"You're not going in there are you?" he asked. "Stay outside."

Mr. Chatterton waited 20 minutes before phoning his Ottawa home to ask his wife if she had heard the news. She hadn't.

When he told her what happened, her only reply was, "In Canada?"

Angry Diefenbaker Pulls Out of Probe

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker imposed a Conservative boycott on the Munsinger security inquiry Wednesday as the royal commission heard its last witness.

Mr. Justice Wishart Spence, the commissioner, announced that final argument will begin today at 10:30 a.m.

Neither Justice Minister Carlin, whose charges led to the inquiry, nor Mr. Diefenbaker, accused by Mr. Carlin of mishandling the Munsinger case when he was prime minister, appeared before the commission.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced he had instructed the lawyers representing him and former Conservative justice minister David Fulton to quit the inquiry. They did and, consequently, will not present final arguments.

Mr. Diefenbaker accused Mr. Justice Spence of making public last week "a sordid, libelous document" and "a McCarthy smear."

DESTROY'S REPUTATION

The document was intended to destroy his reputation and many points in it were contradicted by the evidence, he said.

Mr. Diefenbaker referred to a document prepared by Commission Counsel J. L. O'Brien and J. J. Urie. It was a summary of police reports about Gerda Munsinger and her relationship with Pierre Sévigny, former Conservative associate defence minister, and others. The judge said the document was not evidence.

Mr. Diefenbaker said at a press conference that Mr.

O'Brien boasted publicly in Montreal of "what he was going to do with a former prime minister" and had stated "over and over again that he was going to get even."

Mr. Diefenbaker said Mr. O'Brien had been counsel for the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada when the Conservative cabinet objected to an application for a phone rate increase.

NOT INTERESTED

Mr. O'Brien told reporters before the afternoon session of the inquiry began: "I have never said it and I have no reason to get him. Apart from that, I'm not very interested."

Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton attacked the conduct of the inquiry in a 15-minute press conference.

ASSASSINATION

Mr. Diefenbaker said a succession of events at the inquiry indicated that "the purpose for which the commission was established was the political assassination of opponents."

He assailed secret sessions held without notice, lack of access to secret exhibits before the inquiry, questioning based on secret RCMP files and publication of a summary of the files, without admitting it as evidence.

He criticized Mr. O'Brien for drafting the summary and Mr. Justice Spence for accepting Mr. O'Brien's suggestion to make the summary public, without producing it as evidence.

The summary was "a self-selected tissue of slanders" based on hearsay and contradicted often by sworn evidence.

RESPECTS JUDICIARY

He had deep respect for the judiciary, but had never seen anything to approach the attitude of the commission, the Opposition leader said.

Cool Haul, Chilly Victims

Bandits Strip, Rob 75

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bandits invaded a private club Wednesday, forced about 75 men and women to strip, robbed them of about $10,000 in jewelry and money and held them captives in the nude for nearly eight hours.

Police said one white girl in the predominantly Negro crowd in the West Side Social Club was raped by one of four or five Negro bandits. She was not identified.

About 15 of the victims were women. The men and women were forced to lie nude on the floor during the entire ordeal until the bandits decided to leave.

"The robbers were severe, there was a lot of blood, a lot of the victims got hit on the head," police said.

"They were mean, the big guy was the toughest one. He was watching people. If they made any movement, he would kick them in the head," detectives said.

"The robbers came in at 8 a.m. when the manager opened the club and held him up," police said. "As customers came in one or two at a time, they would be robbed and stripped coming in the door."

"This went on from 8 to 3:30, when the bandits got about all they could get and left."

Department of Industry:

By RICHARD JACKSON
Colonist Ottawa Bureau
First of a Series

OTTAWA (Special) — The new Industry Department:

"A $50,000,000 administrative convenience for Prime Minister Pearson in putting Industry Minister Drury into the cabinet business," says Alfred D. Hales, MP for Wellington South and Conservative critic of this particular department.

"Essential for the attainment of a generally vigorous economy," says Mr. Drury and his department. So is there a neutral, between extremes assessment?

Well, how about David A. Golden who, going on two years ago, resigned as deputy minister of both the industry and the defence production departments to take the presidency of the Air Industries Association of Canada?

He was the senior civil service obstetrician who delivered the infant department, and then left it for what he said was a more challenging practice in private enterprise.

"The department of industry — a good concept — may take a bit of time — but it's sure to turn out to be useful," he says after watching its development over the last two years and 10 months.

Now the degree of excellence of any departmental function and performance is a matter of opinion.

And here Mr. Drury, Mr. Golden and Mr. Hales again differ.

"An extravagant, inefficient, and unnecessary duplication," says Mr. Hales.

"From the outside it seems to be coming along nicely as an instrument of commercial and industrial development," says Mr. Golden.

"We're doing our best possible to assist the business community in obtaining more complete information about changing economic conditions and opportunities to permit development of effective programs and measures for industrial expansion," says Mr. Drury and his department.

Opinion, all of it — expert and authoritative — but still just opinion.

Where you can get out of the controversial element of opinion and into the less argumentative field of facts and figures is to examine how the department gears up in manpower for whatever kind of a job it may be doing.

To begin with, Mr. Hales contends that the industry department's hired hands are over-priced, mainly because the new department bought them at premium rates from other federal agencies.

And the gossip has had wide circulation around the capital that industry somehow managed to transform the Civil Service Commission into something approaching a manpower auction.

The new department, so still goes the scuttlebutt, wanted a particular man, say an expert in textiles, in, say trade and commerce.

So they looked him up in the salary lists of the estimates and public accounts, and if trade and commerce was paying $16,000, they advertised the job at $18,000.

And they hand-tailored the particular requirements of the

Seeks U.S. Protection New General Defies Pagoda-Attack Order

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (Reuters) — Shooting broke out in the streets today between rebel soldiers and troops loyal to the Saigon government.

Sources said government troops were ordered to attack two pagodas held by Buddhist-backed dissident troops.

There were no reports of casualties. Government troops at one point hit a rebel jeep with a shell from a recoilless rifle as it was crossing one of the streets.

An unconfirmed report said Maj.-Gen. Huynh Van Cao, formally installed Wednesday as the Saigon regime's new commander for South Viet Nam's five northern provinces, sought safety with the United States marine commander after refusing to attack the pagodas.

Forces Held To Quarters

Greek Ship Abandoned In Atlantic

HALIFAX (CP) — The 27-member crew of the sinking Greek freighter Aurora abandoned ship about 180 miles east of St. John's, Nfld., Wednesday night.

The Air-Sea Rescue Centre here said 14 members, including the skipper, were taken aboard the vessel Sicilia and 13 aboard the Overseas Courier.

The Sicilia was to continue to New York and the Overseas Courier, originally headed to Seven Islands, Que., was believed heading for St. John's.

The 7,185-ton Aurora, bound from Piraeus, Greece, to Montreal, was taking water rapidly in heavy seas, the centre said.
